MORE BALLOT PRESTIGE WON BY ROOSEVELT

FOUR STATES PUT PRESIDENT OVER THE TOP

(By The Associated Press)

The drive to assure President Roosevelt of more than enough convention votes for a fourth term nomination rolls "over the hump" today despite his silence on whether he will accept.

Democrats in four states — California, New Jersey, Delaware and Montana—are expected to name delegations largely favoring the president's renomination. The four states have a total convention vote of 104, and Mr. Roosevelt needed only a few of those for a first ballot nominating majority of 589.

From now on delegate choosing by the Democrats will be an academic matter, but on the Republican side there still is some element of contest.

Dewey Far In Lead

California Republicans will elect 50 delegates technically pledged to Gov. Earl Warren, who says he never would have agreed to be keynoter at the Chicago convention had he been seeking either the presidency or the vice presidential nomination.

Nevertheless the 50 "favorite son" votes will put Warren in third place in the Republican convention sweepstakes, which Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is leading by a wide margin with 268 pledged and claimed delegates. In second place is Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, with 56. Others still in the running, by virtue of having delegates pledged or claimed for them, are Lieut. Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen, with 34; Gov. Simeon S. Willis of Kentucky, 22; Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, six, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, Massachusetts, three each.

Here is the day's primary and convention picture by states.

California—Democrats elect 52 delegates favoring a Roosevelt Wallace ticket. They also nominate candidates for the Senate seat now held by Sheridan Downey and for 23 House seats. Republicans choose 50 delegates nominally pledged to Governor Warran, and also nominate for the Senate and House posts.

New Jersey—Democrats name 34 delegates, with only four candidates entered against a fourth term slate. Republicans elect 35 delegates from a field of 13 openly favoring Dewey and a party-backed uninstructed group that Gov. Walter E. Edge said was "going to push' for Dewey's nomination.

Montana—Democrats elect 10 delegates, Republicans eight.

Delaware — Democrats name eight delegates, the Republicans already have chosen nine who favor Dewey.

Outlook Is Gloomy For German People As Invasion Nears

BY WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

London, May 15. (AP)—The German people were warned today by the Berlin radio that not merely the "Atlantic wall" but points far inland would fall under allied attack in the very first phase of invasion.

This was the gloomy prediction: "When the battle starts, fighting will not be limited to divisions on the Atlantic wall or to points under the main attack, but small waves will reach far beyond them. Then Germany will be called upon to stand her greatest and most dangerous test."

Nazi propagandists in occupied territory took a similar tone as, for example, this utterance from Philippe Henriot of the French propaganda ministry:

"The last breathing space before the invasion has arrived. We cannot give you any last minute instructions on how to behave or where to seek shelter, as we do not know where the main allied blow will fall."

A series of fresh reports pictured German transport in a state of disorder, gravely limiting the ability of the enemy high command to move troops on the immense scale that might be required.

The Belgian news agency declared that transport in Belgium was so disorganized that a "great part of the country's coal output is piling up at the pithead."

The continental underground reported the Germans were hastily reinforcing airborne and parachute forces in the west to aid troops that might be cut off in the rear. Another report from the same source said the Germans had withdrawn half their fighter forces from the west, leaving barely 250 first line planes to combat the massive allied air forces.

FREEDOM NEARS FOR YUGOSLAVIA

Nation Half Liberated Now; Tito To Strike With Invasion

(By The Associated Press)

The Yugoslav partisan army — potentially 600,000 strong — already has freed one-half of Yugoslavia and will open a general counter-offensive against the Germans when Europe is invaded from the west, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) has declared in interviews with two Allied correspondents at his mountain headquarters.

Tito declared his army of liberation would continue the struggle even beyond the liberation of all Yugoslavia until Germany is totally defeated, and that his national liberation movement sought to build a "truly democratic" country in a federation of all nationalities.

Censors of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's Mediterranean command have suppressed an earlier interview, obtained by Associated Press Correspondent Joseph Morton through written questions to and replies from Tito. The Mediterranean command also denied a request weeks ago by Daniel De Luce—Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press correspendent who entered Yugoslavia last September to obtain the first eyewitness accounts of the partisan armies—to go to Tito's headquarters as accredited correspondent with the partisans. Tito had welcomed De Luce's plan.

Lobbyist Gives Up On Bribery Warrant Issued At Lansing

Lansing, May 15 (AP) — Julian Thompson, lobbyist for the Michigan association of small loan companies and the Household Finance Corp., of Chicago, surrended today to a grand jury warrant issued May 2 charging him and 13 co-defendants with conspiracy to corrupt the 1939 legislature.

He was released in bond to await hearing May 22, offering no comment on his delayed surrender.

Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr's one-man grand jury, which returned the indictment, is preparing a warrant seeking extradition of another of the defendants, Armand E. Robichaud, public relations counsel of the beneficial management corporation of Newark, N. J.

REDS BREAK UP GERMAN CONVOY

Six Vessels Are Sunk, Including Three Transports

BY TOM YARBROUGH

London, Tuesday, May 16. (AP)—Powerful aerial attacks on German land and sea transportation by Soviet airmen were announced last night by the Russian high command, which said there were "no essential changes" on the long eastern land front.

The midnight communique, recorded by the Soviet Monitor from a broadcast, said an enemy convoy of 41 ships was caught in the Norwegian port of Kirknes Sunday night by Red airmen and that three transports totalling 19,000 tons, a self-propelled barge, an auxiliary vessel and a patrol cutter were sunk.

In addition, the communique said, three Nazi transports were set afire and one was beached. Other transports and escort vessels were reported damaged.

Attacking Nazi rail concentrations in old Poland, in the vicinity of Lwow, Soviet airmen started fires and explosions among German military trains and supply depots at Ravaruskaya, Stry, Dvinsk, Ukhno and Dobrozin, the high command said.

The Russian communique said 19 German tanks were destroyed and 33 enemy airplanes brought down either in combat or by anti-air-craft fire on all fronts yesterday.

Priest Punished For Moscow Trip Nears Breakdown

Springfield, Mass., May 15 (AP)—The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, storm center of a Catholic church controversy as a result of a recent flying trip to Moscow to discuss with Marshal Josef Stalin the future of his church in Poland, tonight was under care of a physician who described him as "on the verge of a complete physical and mental breakdown."

Dr. W. C. Kotarski said the priest was confined to bed in the rectory of his church, although the chancellor of the Springfield diocese, Rev. George A. Shea, said earlier in the day that Fr. Orlemanski was "in or on his way to a monastery."

The physician said he found Fr. Orlemanski "very nervous and upset" when he visited him today. He ordered the priest to remain in bed for several days. The clergyman, he added, was visibly affected by developments since his return from Russia.

Rationing Of Meat May Return Soon

Washington, May 15 (AP)— Renewal of general meat rationing—possibly within 30 days—was predicted today by Prince Administrator Chester Bowles.

Bowles said the date when meat will have to be rationad again depends on the amount of feed available for animals and the rate of shipments by farmers and ranchers.

When the supply gets tight again, he declared, "the public will demand rationing. They look on it as a protection."

Anti-Poll Tax Bill Shelved In Senate

Washington, May 15 (AP)—The senate shelved the controversial anti-poll tax bill today after opponents rolled up a 44 to 36 majority against a cloture petition designed to forestall a filibuster by southern Democrats.

The roll call, taken before packed galleries, ended prospects for a vote on the bill itself, and many of its supporters joined in a subsequent 41 to 35 decision to displace it with another measure.

CHINESE CROSS SALWEEN RIVER

Japs Annihilated After Breaking Through At Loyang

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, May 15 (AP)—More than 20,000 Chinese troops have plunged across the Salween river in western Yunnan province at a dozen points, the Chinese high command announced today, opening China's first real offensive in seven years of war with the objectivea junction with Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's troops about 150 miles away in northern Burma.

Sasualties on both sides were heavy along the 130-mile front as the Chinese, achieving an extraordinary degree of surprise, forced a wide enemy deployment.

At the same time, in Hohan province to the north, the Chinese communique said that Japanese troops which had broken through into Loyang at three points had been annihilated, as defenders battled desperately to save the key city from capture. In that sector also, Chennault's air force was active in support of the Chinese.

The communique indicated that Chinese forces in southern Honan still were astride the Peiping-Hankow railway, at Suiping, 110 miles south of Chenghsien, after reopening a gap in the Japanese hold on the line.

Battle Creek Fire Sweeps Warehouse Of GT&W Railway

Battle Creek, Mich., May 15 (AP)—Fire swept a Grand Trunk freight warehouse in downtown Battle Creek today, destroying nine of 12 box cars being loaded on a siding and resulting in a loss which Fred Stein, freight agent for the G. T. & W. railway, estimated at $150,000.

A crew of a switch engine braved the flames to draw three of the box cars to safety.

Stein attributed the blaze to the accidental igniting, from a spark or cirgarette butt, of cleaning fluid which had leaked from the cans in which it was being shipped.

Flames raced swiftly through the long warehouse piled with freight, destroying a large section of the building and the freight it contained, as well as the partly loaded cars.

The scene of the blaze was between Capitol avenue, southwest, and McCamly street, in the heart of Battle Creek. Large crowds were attracted by the spectacular nature of the fire

THOMAS READ CHANGES MIND ON CANDIDACY

POLITICAL FIELD LEFT TO KEYES AND BROWN

Lansing, May 15 (AP)—Thomas Read of Shelby, former attorney general, today abandoned his plans to run for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, leaving the field to Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, present holder of the office, and Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, whom Governor Kelly is backing.

Read said he had decided it would be better to seek a "clear-cut" decision between Brown and Keyes. He added "I'm not taking any part in the campaign right now. I can't say yet what I may do later on, however, but I am not a candidate for any office."

Read previously had announced he would enter the race shortly after Governor Kelly had demanded Keyes' defeat as an enemy of the administration and Brown had entered the field with the governor's blessing.

Democrats File

Brown today filed his nominating petitions for lieutenant governor, submitting 19,500 signatures from 77 counties, 47 of which had sent in more than 100 names each.

Earnest C. Brooks, of Holland, Democratic state chairman, and James H. Lee, Detroit corporation counsel, filed their petitions for governor and lieutenant governor, respectively, on the Democratic ticket. Brooks filed 5,781 signatures and Lee 6,000.

With the deadline for filing petitions tomorrow, a rush of candidates to the department of state developed. The filings today included.

For Congress:

Second district—Galen Starr Ross, Ann Arbor, Republican.

Fourth district—Bernard T. Foley, Benton Harbor, Democrat.

Sixth district—Mrs. Elizabeth L. Belen, Lansing, Ralph H. Marlette, Flint, and State Senator Robert M. McLaughlin, Flint, all Democrats.

Los Angeles, May 15 (AP)—Cleared of the final criminal charge involving his association with 24-year-old Joan Berry, Actor-Producer Charles Chaplin still faces her allegations that he is the father of her seven-months-old daughter, Carol Ann.

Conspiracy indictments against the actor and three co-defendants were dismissed by Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor today, and almost simultaneously the state supreme court in San Francisco denied his petition for dismissal of Miss Berry's civil action.

A representative of Joseph Scott, Miss Berry's counsel, said "we are ready to go to trial at once." Chaplin must plead to the complaint within 10 days, then the trial date will be set.

The Roving Reporter

By ERNIE PYLE

LONDON, (by wireless)—More on how we eat in London—

In addition to the huge "Willow Run" mess I told about Sunday, there are a number smaller messes and clubs, all run by the Army. They get more exclusive as they get smaller. Prices go up as you advance to the higher echelons, although the food is about the same. The highest mess I'm allowed in charges $1.20 for dinner.

PYLE

There is a junior officers' mess which serves about 600 meals a day. The officers can bring guests, and you are served by British waitresses. You are supposed to eat everything on your plate here too, but they're not quite so strict about it as at "Willow Run."

Then there is the senior officers' club. It's about the same size and on the same principle as the junior officers' club, only you have to be a major or above to get in. We call this the "Old Men's Club." You can bring female guests here, and most everybody does. The place is full of big stomachs and bald heads and service stripes from the last war.

Next up in the scale is the mess for full colonels and generals only and no guests are allowed. Needless to say, I've never been in this mess.

But we haven't reached the top yet. The zenith is called the "Yankee Doodle Club," and it is open only to major generals and up, either American or British. It's a joke around town about the poor brigadier generals being so low and common they can't even get into the generals' mess.

We correspondents and many of the other civilian workers over here, such as Red Cross people and aircraft technical men, are

Stilwell's Fighters Only 10 Miles From Objective In Burma

BY CHARLES A. GRUMICH

Southeast Asia Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, May 15 (AP)— Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's main forces, striking for the Japanese base of Kamaing in northern Burma, were reported only 10 miles north of that pre-monsoon objective tonight after Chinese troops advancing down the Mogaung valley joined up with other Allied units.

Capturing Tarongyang, 11 miles north of Kamaing, the Chinese pushed ahead another mile to Manpin, joining forces with advance units, which had been holding Manpin for several days.

Kamaing lies 40 miles west of Myitkyima, main Japanese base in northern Burma. Burmese troops fighting for the Allies raided Tangpu, only 28 miles north of Myitkyina, the closest thrust yet toward that vital base, but no details of the raid were given.

In eastern India, meanwhile, British troops pushed ahead against the Japanese invaders southwest of Imphal, and mopping up operations also continued southwest of Kohima, 65 miles to the north, where the enemy has been reported regrouping in strength.

Allied progress in the India sector was slow. The Japanese are heavily dug in and have laid many mines and booby trops. American medium bombers succeeded in dislocating traffic to the Imphal front by blowing a chunk out of the road.

Reports received here said that Allied chindits operating in mid-Burma were supporting the Allied attacks on the Imphal front by destroying large dumps of food and ammunition destined for the Japanese in that sector.

A dispatch from Thoburn Wiant, Associated Press correspondent with Stillwell's forces in the Mogaung valley, said a two-lane highway on which a procession of American trucks treams in both directions had been extended to the very edge of Japanese artillery fire.

HITLER'S COAST FORTS POUNDED

Allied Pre-Invasion Air Assault Runs Into 31st Day

BY GLADWIN HILL

London, May 15 (AP)— Unhampered by the German air force, small formations of American heavy and medium bombers blasted Hitler's sprawling coastal defense system today, carrying the pre-invasion air offensive into the 31st consecutive day.

A German raid on South England last night killed a half dozen persons. At least 15 of the attackers were reported shot down.

Approximately 250 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and an additional force of Thunderbolts and fighter-bombers bombarded objectives in northern France while A-20 light bombers drove clear to the Paris area and hit an airfield near the badly battered Creil railroad yards. Marauders bombed a railroad yard also.

The Vichy radio said the Lille and Valenciennes areas, much pounded districts, were hit.

Not a bomber was lost of those involved in the operations—nor in the far-flung RAF night bombing attacks a few hours before. British Mosquito bombers hit Cologne last night and unspecified military objectives in France, Belgium and Holland.

Foremen's Strike Continues To Keep War Plants Closed

Detroit, May 15 (AP)—The plant of the big Packard Motor Car company remained closed today and war production in a dozen other factories in the Detroit area was affected in varying degrees as approximately 3,300 foremen continued a strike begun more than three weeks ago.

Two minor disturbances marked the strike today as the executive board of the Independent Foreman's Association of America met to consider action on a War Labor Board order that the foremen be sent back to work. The foremen's officials were reported divided on a proposal that a return to work be ordered and their demands for recognition be left to the WLB. The latter agency has refused to consider any proposals from the foremen while the strike is in progress.

SAULT HOSPITAL DEAL IS SIFTED

Lease Or Purchase By State For Mental Cases Proposed

Lansing, May 15 (AP)—The building committee of the state administrative board today took under advisement proposals that it lease or purchase the now unsued Fort Brady station hospital at Sault Ste. Marie, as a temporary addition of the state's mental hospital facilities.

Army spokesmen informed Governor Kelly and the committee that the hospital is unused, and destined to be tron down for salvage unless other arrangements are made.

Kelly said it could be used to house approximately 400 mental patients of the "comfortably adjusted type," relieving pressure on other state hospitals. He said that while the ocercrowding of hospitals has been made more severe by the committing of veterans of World War II, veterans would not be housed at the Fort Brady hospital if the state acquires it. He said 133 veterans of this war have been committed to state hospitals, and 36 still are patients there.

Charles F. Wagg, executive secretary of the state hospital commission, said state mental hospital patient population has been growing at the rate of "300 a year net," and that the addition is needed.

Pontiac Rejects School Tax Raise

Pontiac, Mich., May 15. (AP)—Voters defeated a proposal to raise school taxes two mills above the statutory 15-mill limitation to provide additional educational funds today.

Returns from 13 of the city's 17 precincts showed 2,900 votes in favor of the tax increase and 4,100 against it. The measure would require a two-thirds majority to pass.

The election was held under the terms of a truce agreement which ended a strike of 500 school teachers and school maintenance workers last month.

The increased taxes, to be levied for three years, were designed to finance salary and wage boost demands.

Wilted Flowers Help Find Still

Newark, N. J., May 15. (AP)—Flowers watered from a nearby stream wilted and died, the state alcoholic beverage commission said today, and as a result ABC agents uncovered a still.

The ABC said the still, the location of which they did not disclose, was found after a greenhouse owner complained of tainted water in a brook. Agents found a pipe pouring mash into the water upstream.

Another New Jersey still, said the ABC, was disguised as a service station and the products were delivered to trucks from a gasoline pump.

GREAT WEDGE BLASTED OUT NEAR CASSINO

FIFTH AND EIGHTH ARMY TROOPS SLUG AHEAD

BY JOSEPH MORTON

Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 15. (AP)—French and American troops shredded the lower half of the Germans' Gustav Line today and a break-through by the British Eighth army appeared imminent in the heavily defended sector below Cassino.

Fanning out through 60 square miles of rugged tableland and flat river valleys which they controlled after fierce fighting since the push opened Thursday night, Fifth and Eighth army troops slugged doggedly forward to new positions.

Enemy Holds Hills

Penetration of the Gustav Line developed into what was reported officially as a "significant breach," but beyond it and up the Liri valley leading to the Hitler line the way is studded with anti-tank positions and the Germans still hold commanding ground north of the valley.

(Gen. Alphonse Juin announced in a telegram to Gen. Charles De Gaulle at Algiers that his French Expeditionary Corps had entered San Giorgio in the Liri valley, seized a dominating ridge to the south and captured Corino in a gereral advance against the Germans, who were retreating in disorder. He said the French had taken 1,000 prisoners, 30 of them officers, with the number of captives mounting steadily.)

Germans Withdrawing

Heavy fighting progressed in the Spigno area, with the French again in the thick of it. The Americans, after occupying Santa Maria Infante, pressed toward the strong point at Spigno, and at sundown the Germans were reported withdrawing from several areas.

Across the bridges of the Rapido River, the machinery of war moved swiftly, with the Eighth army gnawing systematically at the German garrison in the lower Liri valley, which for months has barred the way to Cassino. Advance parties of allied forces have stabbed within a few miles of the Adolf Hitler line, a string of camouflaged pill boxes, dugouts and emplacements which the Germans have been ordered to hold at all costs. The Rapido bridgehead now is strongly established, said a field dispatch from Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling.

Earlier, Gen. Juin's fighting French, battling their way to the tops of hills dominating the Liri valley, southwest of Cassino, had captured the important town of Ausonia.

on the left of the French, slashed across the important Ausonia-Formia highway and captured commanding heights beyond while British Eighth army forces deepened their hard-won bridgehead across the Rapido River south of Cassino to more than a mile and threatened to outflank Cassino's powerful defenses.

Over 2000 Prisoners

In 72 hours of fighting against a determined foe who had been digging in for months, the allies had nearly erased from the map the looping western sement of the Gustav Line between Cassino and the seacoast. More thna 2,000 Nazi prisoners already had streamed back into the allied pens, and the enemy's losses in killed and wounded has been correspondingly heavy.

German troops trapped between the swiftly - advancing American and French spearheads appeared to face the alternatives of fleeing into the lofty Arunci Mountain range at their backs, surrendering or being annihilated. American units were fighting on the approaches of Spigno, five miles south of Ausonia, after having smashed the enemy out of the villages of Santa Maria Infante and San Pietro and captured vital mountain positions on both sides of the Ausente River.

For the third straight day the allied air forces unleashed virtually everything on hand against the enemy, attacking him at every vulnerable point between his gun positions and command posts on the battle line and his freight yards in northern Italy.

Pockets Eliminated

Eighth army troops in the Cassino sector also worked furiously, building bridges and pouring tanks across the Rapido to speed their advance. Gurkhas from India cleaned out remaining enemy strongpoints among the cellar labyrinths of San Angelo, which was cut off earlier and by-passed. Other allied troops eliminated Nazi pockets in the area where the Liri and Rapido Rivers join.

The only point where the allied attack appeared to have slowed down was northwest of Cassino, where the Germans had rushed in reinforcements and had hastily strengthened their defenses against the Poles. Southwest of Cassino a crack Nazi parachute division counter-attacked repeatedly with the support of artillery and a few tanks.

Writing from the Cassino sector, Edward Kennedy of the Associated Press said of the Poles:

"They went into action against a superior German force, gained their first objectives and then were driven back by the most furious counter-attack the Germans have yet launched in this offensive. Casualties were heavy on both sides — heavier than anywhere else on the Italian front.

Despite the announcement of a "significant breach" in the German defenses, the allied command emphasized that a swift conquest of any sector could not be expected and that progress necessarily would depend upon the speed with which supply lines could be established through a rugged country where normal means of communication are wrecked.

Small Squad Opens Spartan Workouts

East Lansing, May 15. (AP)—Head Coach Charley Bachman opened spring football practice at Michigan State college today with a small and inexperienced squad on hand.

Bachman, still without a formal schedule for next fall, said the most experienced players he can use will be men who served last fall in a campus league. No veteran of the 1942 squad is available, the players having scattered well since football at M. S. C. was suspended a year ago because of the war.

Bachman said spring practice would consist of conditioning, passing, kicking and signals, five days a week for four weeks. In July a summer practice period will open with more players expected.

French Assembly Changes Its Name

Algiers, May 15 (AP) — The French consulative assembly changed the name of the French committee for national liberation today to "the provisional government of the French republic" and expressed confidence in the committee's "practical arrangements" with the allies to assure assistance in the invasion and maintenance of French sovereignty.

During a debate on foreign affairs Gen. Charles DeGaulle intervened to declare that France did not consider herself absolutely bound by the accords made by Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark and Admiral Jean Darlan in North Africa in November, 1942, at the time of the allied landings.

The milk had accumulated in the Confederation plant over Sunday and "had to be disposed of," said Gay. "We tried to give it away to charitable organizations but they took only 60 gallons."

Governor Kelly Will Be Unopposed For GOP Nomination

Detroit, May 15 (AP)—Orrin A. De Mass, former chairman of the Michigan liquor control commission, said tonight he was withdrawing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, leaving Kelly unopposed in the July primary.

"Winning the war comes first," De Mass said, "and I have decided that this isn't the time for frictions that might disturb governmental effort. Petitions with nearly 20,000 signatures have prepared and I am grateful to my friends but I will not be a candidate."

Army Drops 'PN' Label For 4-Fs

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Philadelphia, May 15. (AP)—Announcement that the army within the last week had dropped the objectionable label "psychoneurotic" from the records of selectees rejected for nervous and mental reasons, was made to the American Psychiatric association here today.

Many persons considered this "PN" label a disgrace. It prevented many men from getting jobs. The rejects continue, but the reason now given is "Not suited for military service."

Announced also today was the size of the man-pool of rejectees and discharged—a total of more than 4,000,000. Of these 3,800,000 are 4-F and half a million discharged. Of the 4-Fs, 1,300,000 were mental and nervous—the old psychoneurotic label. Of the discharged, 40 per cent were for mental and nervous reasons.

Race Scene Shifts To Hawthorne Oval

Chicago, May 15. (AP)—Chicago's racing season, apparently destined to become the most successful in history, came to the end of its initial lap with the windup of the 14-day meeting at the popular half-mile track, Sportsman's Park, today.

Tomorrow the scene shifts to Hawthorne, a mile course, for the 29-day Lincoln Fields meeting which again was transferred to Hawthorne as a war time measure to facilitate transportation. Hawthorne is the closest to downtown Chicago and is easily reached within 30 minutes by automobile, streetcar or elevated lines.

Going into today's finale, the average wagering at Sportsman's has been more than $600,000 with a $9,000,000 total in prospect, a 30 per cent increase over a year ago. The attendance has averaged better than 10,500.

With The AEF

BY JOHN A. MOROSO, 3RD
(Substituting for Kenneth Dixon)

With the U. S. Navy in Britain (delayed) (AP)—Vice-Admiral Sir Robert Lindsay Burnett is a salty man worthy of the best traditions of the British empire. Over here he is called "Bob Burnett of the Barents Sea" because he is a wind-bitten, frosty-boned veteran of the convoy route to North Russia. He has suffered the cold hell of this trying run in destroyers and cruisers and he has not lost his sense of humor.

Red-faced and heavy-set, he is full of anecdotes of sea life. On one of his successful forays against the enemy he returned to a British port and a telegram addressed to one of his seamen was handed to him for clearance. It read:

"Well done, chum. Congratulations to you and the admiral."

Bob Burnett likes these stories because he feels that the men taking ships to Northern Russia are all members of one big family. They live in little ships in a land where the sun never rises—A land where sleet, snow and ice are a daily part of life.

His description of Naval warfare is borrowed from a writer whose name he does not know:

"Naval warfare consists of long periods of terrible boredom and short periods of intensive excitement."

Bob tells another story about a frozen-faced steward aboard a cruiser. None had ever seen this man smile. One day his ship got in a hot fight with the enemy. His captain met him the next day and remarked:

"Good morning, we had a bit of excitement yesterday."

"It makes a change, sir," said the steward—still without a smile."

This part of the war is going to miss Bob Burnett. He is leaving for South Africa to command British Naval forces operating in the South Atlantic.

Over here for the invasion of Europe is broad-built Robert "Buck" Halperin, of Chicago, a former football star at Notre Dame and for the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Buck" won the Navy Cross in the Moroccan invasion and after the Sicilian show he won a jump promotion from ensign to full lieutenant. "Buck" likes the Navy principally because he has gone ahead rapidly. In civilian life he drifted from job to job, was never satisfied.

Loss of the British cruiser Penelope during the Anzio operation created widespread sorrow in London because the ship was so popular. When she visited the United States for repairs they called her "the ship with a thousand holes" and "The Pepper Pot."

KURILE ISLANDS RAIDED BY NAVY

Truk And Ponape Also Included In U. S. Aerial Sorties

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, May 15, (AP)—Striking through intense anti-aircraft fire, United States navy search planes bombed little Shumushu Island of the North Pacific Kuriles before dawn May 13.

Other American aircraft blasted Truk and Ponape in the Carolines and the isolated Japanese in the Marshalls.

The far-flung aerial actions were announced today by Adm. Chester W, Nimitz.

The strike into the stormbound Kuriles, backdoor approach to Japan, came after a lull of seven days, probably caused by adverse weather. A few hours after the navy planes started fires on Shumushu a medium bomber of the Eleventh army air force attacked two Japanese patrol boats near Paramushiro. Results were not disclosed.

Heavy Liberator bombers of the Seventh army air force returned to Truk before dawn Saturday and pounded that enemy base with 42 tons of bombs. It was the sixth raid of the month on Truk by 7th AAF fliers. They reported two large explosions on Moen Island, one of the more important islands in the Truk lagoon.

All Hospitals Get Share Of Penicillin

Lansing, May 15 (AP) — The State Health Department announced today that all hospitals at state institutions will be eligible to receive a share of the 100,000,000 units of penicillin a month made available to Michigan hospitals.

The department said the drug would be available to tuberculosis sanataria, insane asylums, prison hospitals and those at the Michigan Soldiers Home, Michigan State College, Girls Training School at Adrian and Boys Vocational School at Lansing.

EVERETT WELLS IS CANDIDATE

Seeks Republican Nomination For County Treasurer

Everett B. Wells, former foreman of the shipping department for the I. Stephenson company and a World War 1 veteran, will today file his petitions for the Republican nomination for treasurer of Delta county. Mr. Wells has been incapacitated for his regular work for the past seven years and is fully qualified for the office he will seek at the November election. Mr. Wells came to the village of Wells with his parents when he was a babe and has spent all of his active life in this community, aside from his service in the army during the first World War.

He completed his eighth grade education at the Wells school and graduated from the Escanaba high school, entering the army in the fall of the year of his graduation.

During vacation periods when he was in school he was employed in the I. Stephenson company's shipping department and after his return from military service, he was made head of the department. He held that position until seven years ago when an illness developed that incapacitated him for that work. He is mentally alert and fully capable of performing the duties of the office he will seek.

Mr. Wells has a host of friends in all sections of Delta county who will welcome his entry as a candidate for county office. Mr. Wells is a property owner in Ensign township and is married, his wife being the former Gertrude Loeffler, who has been employed for the past several years at the offices of the Delta Insurance Agency.

Fight Over Poll Tax Is Farce, Says Childs

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Apparently the Senate is about to end the farce that has been going on for a week or more over the Poll Tax issue. This so-called fight has had all the violence and fervor of a game of ping pong in an old ladies' home.

M. Childs

The plain truth is that the advocates of the measure to abolish the Poll Tax in the southern states were simply going through the motions in a political year when the negro vote is important. Both sides have been playing ancient parts in a stale tableau.

It's a kind of political "Uncle Tom's Cabin" that gets trotted out every three or four years. The house passed a bill abolishing the Poll Tax in the eight southern states that still have it. Then the senate goes through a phony filibuster and the measure is adopted.

The southern poll tax bloc in the senate, from Lister Hill, the Progressive, to Cotton Ed Smith, the reactionary, is united to a man. With loving care, they take out the motheaten arguments and flourish them for the record.

A Gentleman's Privilege

For a great many southern members of Congress, the poll tax miraculously simplifies life. In the poll tax states, you don't have to bother with masses of voters. Voting is a gentleman's privilege.

In the eight poll tax states of the south in the 1942 congressional elections, five per cent of the population or less voted. In South Carolina, it was one per cent. By contrast, in Illinois, it was 36, in Indiana 38 per cent.

"The constitution of the United States is the breastworks of the states," Cotton Ed Smith orated.

It is being used as the breastworks of a southern oligarchy that has risen to power in Washington by the convenient funicular of seniority. The southerners simply get on and ride to the top.

This is the system that puts power into the hands of a man like Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, the fantastic patronage-grabber whose reputation is at last beginning to catch up with him. In the absence of Senator Glass, of Virginia, who is seriously ill, McKellar is acting chairman of the powerful appropriations committee at the same time that he is chairman of the patronage producing committee on postoffices and post roads.

But McKellar and company have the last laugh in the poll tax tableau. They know very well it's a cream puff fight with no real intention to force the issue through.

Senator Mead and Senator Barkley read their lines like seasoned actors who are a little bored with the play in its latest revival. Governor Dewey came in with a violent tap on the wrist. He is against the poll tax, but he said nothing that might have helped along the present fight.

So the southerners can laugh. They can sit back and take it easy. Those toothless bloodhounds from the north will never catch up with the south's Eliza.

Under the senate rules, it must be said, any real effort to force debate on the issue would have provoked a genuine filibuster. Such a filibuster can be ended by invoking cloture which compels a vote. It takes a two-thirds vote, however, to bring about cloture.

With a little pressure inside both parties, a two-thirds vote might be possible. Then certainly a majority of senators would be compelled—if not by conscience and conviction, then by practical politics—to vote for the anti-poll tax bill.

The stock answer of the southerners is: let the states do it. Three states have abolished the poll tax. But Tennessee voted to remove this bar on the franchise and the state supreme court thereupon held the action unconstitutional.

The danger to our Democracy in all this is not so much the refusal to abolish the poll tax. That might be an honest decision reached after the issue was frankly faced. The danger is in the pretense, the mockery of a sham battle.

Button Up That Lip

AS "D DAY"—invasion day, approaches loyal citizens of America, tensely watching for the coming of this collosal test of Allied power, are asking themselves how best they can help protect the military security of their nation, at this decisive stage of the war.

Byron Price, head of the federal bureau of newspaper and radio censorship, has offered some pertinent suggestions, that may well be held firmly held in mind by every loyal citizen. They follow:

1. Express your opinions, but keep military information to yourself.

2. If you write a letter or send a message or speak carelessly, remember that the enemy may see or hear your words eventually.

3. Don't expect newspapers, magazines, or radio to aid the enemy by forecasting when or where our forces will strike.

4. Don't forget that Congress has prescribed heavy penalties for carrying or sending a letter or message into or out of the country without submitting it to Censorship.

5. Having always in mind what is at stake, be patient of delays and other serious dislocations which are sure to afflict all international communications in these critical times.

In other words—button up your lip and keep on working AND PRAYING.

Not Needed Here

ONLY a few years ago we said, with confidence, both to ourselves, and publicly, "It Can't Happen Here," but so many of those things we believed impossible have happened, there is only a mild shock in the newest proposal that only individuals armed with a federal permit will be allowed to buy a farm in the post-war readjustment period.

In this former land of the free and home of the brave, such a proposal would, ordinarily, be viewed as just another crack brained suggestion that will get nowhere. But out in Iowa a fellow who bears the name of William G. Murray and even U. S. Senator Gillette, of that state, are seriously proposing legislation that will curb exchange of farm land ownership.

Even Capper's Farmer, one of the leading agricultural publications of the west, speaks at least mildly of the necessity for some form of federal legislation that will curb a land boom, when peace finally returns to this nation.

The ills that would accompany a catastrophice boom in land prices could, under few conditions, affect land prices in Delta county or any other county in the peninsula. We in this section have just too much good agricultural land, still unused to allow the development of outlandish price levels, such as may influence acreage values in Iowa and other older agricultural states. It is true there is a necessity for land zoning to prevent speculators from selling worthless land for agricultural use, but Delta and other sister counties, are taking steps to prevent such a development. In fact the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has a committee now at work sifting the wheat from the chaff in this county.

So there is no necessity for either land buying permits or restrictive federal taxes, to govern the sale of farm land in the peninsula, but Capper's Farmer proposes:

"Most drastic proposal is the permit system advocated by William G. Murray of Iowa and others. It would require a prospective purchaser to appear before a board to show reason why he should be allowed to buy a farm.

"If the board found him an unfit person to own land, or didn't like his attitude it apparently could turn him down. No permit would be awarded before the land had been appraised.

"Another proposal is credit control. Its first provision is that no loans should exceed 50 per cent of the value of the land. Presumably value would be established by appraisal. Such a regulation might be legislated, and it it might stick. Presumably, also, lending agencies would establish a policy of refusing to lend to men who paid long prices.

"Mildest of the various proposals is one to impose a stiff Federal gains tax. Such a bill was placed before Congress by Senator Gillette of Iowa. It is directed at speculators by providing a tax amounting to 90 per cent of the profits if the land is resold before the end of 2 years. Each year thereafter the tax would be decreased until the end of 6 years when none would be levied. There is no doubt as to the class of transactions which the legislation is intended to curb, but would a farmer who was obliged to sell within the limits specified be subject to the tax?

"All the schemes thus far advanced seem to be pointed toward keeping the buyer from making a fool of himself. Of course every sale must have 2 parties. The man who wants to quit farming; the man who wants to retire on proceeds from sale of his land; the widow who has been hanging on until she can get the family equity out intact; the non-operator who is sick of wrangling with tenants—all these welcome the upturn of prices."

Should Act Now

ALTHOUGH bursting leaf buds are only beginning to lend a sheen of green to the tree tops about the city, it isn't too early to both think and act about safety at Escanaba's municipal bathing beach and the south shore water front. Some of these warm days, boys of Escanaba are going to yield to that uncontrollable spring time desire to "go swimmin'" and conditions at the beach and in the lagoons offer a potential back-ground for stark tragedy.

Since the old bathing beach, on Ludington park shore, was abandoned, nearly every spring season has been blackened by the accidental drowning of thoughtless pre-season swimmers.

During the regular "swimming season" the city management employs life guards, to prevent the recording of such accidents.

Would it not be a sound investment to employ guards to patrol the shore before the season opens

Women at War

IT ISN'T only the women in uniforms or defense plants that are fighting this war. There's another little band at home, who also serves—by standing and waiting in line.

Both Miss and Mrs. America have had to surrender many cherished articles of their everyday existence to the call of war emergency. From cellar to roof, their households have been consistently raided, with even the clothes from their backs going to serve as military equipment materials for our fighting men overseas.

For example, that handy set of bobby pins now so hard to obtain, is in metal for cannons and ships. The lovely sheer nylons of yesteryear are assuring the daring paratroopers a safe landing both in preparatory maneuvers and in invasion itself. And from the pantry and larder, well-known brands of canned goods and foods are missing, the better to serve the home front, abroad.

Waiting for their familiar standbys to return, women at home find comfort in the knowledge that they will return, better than ever from the stepped-up progress of wartime economy. It is easier to make do with the leftovers when one knows that it is only temporary. Accepting girdles that have less "give" is part of the service that patriotic women cheerfully render when they know that rubber is doing a mammoth job in tires for jeeps and other vehicles of war. Meanwhile, ingenuous substitutes for elastic are amazingly good.

So, the next time you start to feel imposed upon when your customary brand-name request for cleansing tissues meets with a helpless start from the local storekeeper, remember that the Air Force, for one, needs them more than you do. Your complexion will not suffer half as much from a lack of cleansing tissues, as will an aviator's goggles, for instance.

Brands are off to war, but when the bad dream is over, once again it will be possible for shoppers to get what they want just by mentioning the magic names they know so well.

ON OUR SIDE NOW
(Detroit Free Press)

The formation of special labor battalions of Italian prisoners of war at Fort Wayne brings the war full cycle for the men who volunteer for this type of service in the United States Army. They may have had no enmity in their hearts, but, technically, they were our enemies from Dec. 11, 1941, when Mussolini declared war on this country, until Oct. 13, 1943, when Badoglio became our co-belligerent. They were captured fighting against us.

The war still goes on, against Hitler, but now these Italians will be working to release American soldiers to carry on against the chief architect of their misfortunes. This turn of events could displease only the most determined Fascist.

More bathing suits than usual will be made of cotton this year — and those we've seen are nice pickin'.

WORDS TO WATCH

A broadcaster was heard recently to pronounce DIMINUTION as "dee-min-yoo-ISH-un." But the word should not have five syllables. The correct pronunciation is dim-i-NYOO-shun, the third syllable rhyming with "few."

It will be a surprise to many a reader that no authority sanctions or even lists the pronunciation of SALON as "suh-LON." This French word is still considered as foreign, and the dictionaries list only the French pronunciation. Look up the word in your dictionary; note carefully the "n," in the respelling for pronunciation. If you understand your diacritical symbols, you will find that the "n" is given the French nasal sound, which, in my copyrighted phonetic system, is represented by the character; (N). The "a" of salon is flat. Pronounce the word thus: sa-LAW(N).

From salon we have the English word SALOON, which is identical in meaning with the French salon: "an elaborate drawing room or ballroom." In America in the old days, barrooms were known by the high-sounding title of "saloon bars," saloon having the meaning of "elegant; sumptuous." Later, the name was shortened to saloon, and the word has been in disrepute ever since; hence the adoption of the French salon in such phrases as "beauty salon; salon music," etc.

In England, saloon in the meaning of "barroom" is not used, "pub" being the popular term. But railroad parlor cars are called "saloon carriages," and the type automobile known in America as the sedan is spoken of as "saloon car." Thus the British use the word in its proper and literal sense. But the "barroom" connotation is so firmly fixed in the American mind that "beauty saloon" would suggest a cocktail lounge, and "saloon music" could only mean "Swee-e-t A-da-hic-line!"

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

The great aerial offensive against Fortress Europe now under way means different things to different military specialists—depending on their specialty. For airmen the effort represents strategic action pure and simple, aiming to disarm Germany by destroying its means to wage war. But in the minds of other observers the current attack takes many and strange forms.

Seversky

The airplane happens to be exceedingly versatile. It can even play the role of a tank, when it skims the surface. In enforcing a blockade it acts like a warship. It is frequently a troop carrier. What happens, therefore, is that every military observer tends to focus attention on the particular aspect of aviation that seems to him most important; mainly it is the aspect he understands. He proceeds to make deductions in line with his particular military knowledge and views.

Thus a military writer with purely infantry background, to whom actual occupation of enemy soil seems the supreme purpose of all war-making, is likely to regard the present aerial offensive as merely a "preliminary" action to invasion. He treats it as tactical preparation for "the real show."

From the air power standpoint such an interpretation is nonsense. The air action now under way, aiming in the first place to destroy Hitler's fighter command, is a first vital step in disarming the enemy. If successful it will disarm him so far as resistance in the sky is concerned. The next step—to complete the disarmament—is a matter of choice.

—REVERT TO OLD PLAN—

To the airman the logical procedure would be to continue the job of demolition of the war machine from overhead, until the enemy country's will to resist collapse in chaos. But the official plan now seems to be to revert to orthodox surface action, finishing the disarmament on the surface by defeating the land armies in the field.

As I have on various occasions stated in these dispatches, air power cannot score a decision against a nation that is well defended in the air until the shielding air force is destroyed. "Victory through air power," in other words, can be achieved only by first eliminating the opposing air power, just as in the era of sea power it was necessary to destroy the enemy's naval forces to obtain command of the seas.

Whether the conquest of the seas was followed up with invasion, or utilized to impose a blockade to break the enemy's will and ability to resist, then became a matter of choice. Should the offensive from the air kill off Hitler's defensive air power, we would similarly have such a choice open to us.

While observers who think exclusively in surface terms talk about the air battle as a preliminary to invasion, how do the men in charge of the Allied action regard it? An official answer is available. A joint Anglo-American statement issued in London on April 23 declared that the purpose of the air offensive against Germany is "the destruction of the German air force as a preliminary to the destruction of the German ability and will to continue armed resistance.'

—MUST WIN AIR CONTROL—

This amounts to official confirmation of what I have endeavored to explain in these dispatches; namely that the elimination of enemy air force, thereby winning command of the skies, is the first and indispensable act of air strategy. We can then utilize this command of the air to carry air strategy through to decision, or we can throw away this advantage and go back to a surface struggle under the skies cleared of enemy aircraft.

A basic and common mistake is the belief that actual occupation of enemy soil is the climax of victory. This is simply not so. The climax of victory is the subjugation of the enemy's will to your own. In more primitive times one nation could not make its will effective upon another except by quartering its armed forces on the loser's territory. In the present air age, however, it can be done virtually by telephone—by the mere threat of total annihilation from the sky. Of course the defeated land may be in a state of civil war with no representative government, and the victors might therefore find it necessary to establish order by force of arms. In that case, occupation would be a political rather than a military undertaking.

In the pre-aviation period, subjugation of an enemy country without actual occupation could be accomplished by siege or blockade. Siege, of course, could only be effective against isolated fortresses; besieging an entire nation was physically impossible. But insular nations dependent on outside sources for sustenance could be brought to their knees by blockade, without the necessity for invasion and occupation. At the cracking point, the blockaded area had to submit or perish.

A. HITLER
RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN
THE GREATEST MILITARY BLUNDER IN HISTORY

Good Morning!
By The Bugler

FAMILY AFFAIR—These spring days the yachtsmen of Escanaba are turning to their boats at the yacht harbor as naturally as a duck takes to water—and soon most of the fleet will take to the water, once the scraping, sanding, varnishing and painting is completed. For your true yachtsman must have everything shipshape before he will permit hull to touch water.

Dunathan

In all too many families it is usually the man alone who takes a keen interest in boating. There is, however, one family in Escanaba which goes all out for boating — and even the pre-season furbishing. This is the Morgan Hall family. On any sunny day, and even some more disagreeable, you find Mr. and Mrs. Hall and the little Halls all taking an active interest in their boat.

Mrs. Hall will be found with a scraper or a wood block covered with sandpaper, working diligently alongside her husband. The Hall children also do what they can, and even the smallest of the children is an interested spectator. In summer, the boat in the water, the youngest child romps over the deck like a veteran seafrarer, almost lost inside the buoyant covering of a life jacket.

* * *

GARDEN GUIDER—Jim Wells, superintendent of the Chatham Experimental Station, was in Escanaba a few days ago and in chatting with the Bugler disclosed that some of the mail coming to the station poses difficult problems, agriculturally speaking. There was, for instance, the letter from a man near Ottawa, Canada, who asked for the benefit of some friends who intended to spend the summer at Mackinac Island, when and what to plant in a one-acre garden. Jim Wells answered the letter as best he could—and at the same time pointed out that Mackanic Island, surrounded as it is by water, has a later spring and also a later fall than other areas of Upper Michigan.

* * *

HELP YOURSELF—There is that saying that "God helps those who help themselves." Certainly this has a fundamental rightness. What we receive should at least be in part due to our own efforts. The Bugler is thinking along this line in regard to those who make application for supplemental gasoline rations.

As recently announced, the local War Price and Rationing Board has been stepped up to the position of special area board. There is only one other such board in the Upper Peninsula, consequently the duties of the employes are considerably increased, although one additional clerk has been employed.

Don't expect, therefore, to saunter into the ration board office—with your three-months gas stamps completed exhausted—and impatiently hammer on a desk for immediate attention. What you should do—as a good citizen—is to ask the desk clerk for a supplementary gas application blank, then sit down at one of the desks outside and fill out the blank, being careful to set down all necessary information.

If you can't tell the story of your needs, the clerk will provide you with paper on which to write a letter, giving this information. When everything is complete, hand the blank and your tire record to clerk, who will file it for the attention of the board.

Only in extremely urgent cases is it necessary for a person to seek immediate action on their application. Certainly you should know when your gas stamps will run out, and you should be able to apply at least one week before the expiration date. You'll find this date marked on your gas book.

SLICK OPERATORS—If you have a budding song writer in your family, keep him or her away from answering advertisements of so-called "music company's" which promise fame and fortune. About all they'll get for their trouble is their money taken away from them.

One Escanaba woman had this experience recently. She had been writing verses for many years, read an advertisement which asked verse writers to submit some of their work as lyrics for songs. These compositions would bring the lyricist dollars and surcease from drudgery.

Well, to make the story shorter, she submitted a verse. The company, located in Illinois, wrote her that it would cost her $20 to set it to music, and $33 dollars for printing 50 copies of the song. With a faith that bounded on extreme innocence, she did as requested.

Now she has 50 flimsy copies of her song—so-called "professional artist copy." Even if by some remote chance the song did hit a popular response, all publishing and reproducing rights are controlled by the company.

PICKEREL AGAIN — The Bugler, believing the argument of Pike vs. Pickerel was waning, figuratively washed his hands of the controversy. But up comes another contribution on the subject, this time from "Soldier's Mother," who writes:

"In years and years of fishing we have found the pickerel and the northern pike just as palatable as the musky and dory. I have served pickerel and dory on the same platter to people who, oh dear, never eat the former, but who consumed a second helping and did not know the difference."

She adds that any good book on the subject supports her contention that pickerel and northern pike are not noxious, but game fish.

INTO THE PAST

Escanaba folk suffered through a day of dust storm, thick haze and high temperature yesterday. The mercury climbed to 80 degrees. The dust was believed to have blown in from the Dakotas, while the smoke was from forest fires.

Dr. E. H. Campbell of the Northern State Hospital at Newberry will conduct a mental clinic in Escanaba Tuesday.

Daylight saving time will go into effect in Gladstone, Escanaba and some other communities of the Upper Peninsula on Sunday. Escanaba residents are reminded to set their clocks ahead one hour before retiring Sunday night.

AN AVIATOR in Africa reported this story to Alan Jones: He and two companions were lost in the desert. They lived on the dehydrated food in their emergency kits until they were rescued and brought to Cairo . . . After they had rested, they were invited to see the sights of the city. One of the sightseeing spots was a museum which featured some Egyptian mummies. "How do you like 'em?" the rescued men were asked. "Africa's been awful this last week," they answered. "Dehydrated food, and dehydrated women."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—There has been a lot of discussion inside Republican ranks about the closeness of Herbert Hoover to Tom Dewey. Some are dead against the Hoover influence, claim that the hand of Hooverism will blight both Dewey and GOP chances this year. Others are equally strong for Hoover, recalling that, even though defeated by Roosevelt, Hoover rooled up a substantial popular vote in 1932 and remains today one of the elder statesmen of the party.

Pearson

But whether for or against Hoover, there is no real argument, among those who have watched the wheels go round, about the fact that Hoover has been the mainspring of the Dewey campaign.

Representative Clare Luce of Connecticut got a sample of this just before GOP leaders met recently in Chicago to organize for the Republican convention.

On the day before the organization meeting (at which Governor Warren of California was selected as the convention's keynote speaker) Mrs. Luce called Hoover on the phone. She told him that several people had suggested that she might be the keynote speaker, and she asked Hoover's advice as to whether she had a chance and what she should do about it.

"No use even bothering about it," Hoover replied. "Warren will be selected tomorrow."

He was.

NOTE—Another convention speaker selected at Chicago was Hoover himself, not without the blessing of Dewey. Hoover was put across largely through J. Russel Sprague, National Committeeman from New York, who acted as Deweys 'factotum at Chicago.

--PROTECTION FOR PARATROOPERS--

Thanks largely to hard-hitting Senator Kilgore of West Virginia, the War Department is now doing its best to put self-sealing gasoline tanks in paratroop-carrying transport planes, also will su the planes with a certain amount of armor to protect pilots.

After this column revealed that not one, but two groups of U. S. paratroopers over Sicily had been shot down by Allied gunners last July, Senator Kilgore wrote a letter to Secretary of War Stimson, pointing out that many of the paratroopers in the planes never had a chance to bail out, for some of the planes burst into flames while still in midair, due to the fact that the gasoline tanks ignited from anti-aircraft fire. Senator Kilgore pointed out that these paratroop transport planes did not have self-sealing gasoline tanks and asked Stimson to rectify this situation.

Kilgore has now received assurances that self-sealing tanks will be rushed into use on as many transport planes as possible.

There had been a dispute among air officers regarding the use of self-sealing tanks, some of the Brass Hats claiming that they could not be installed in time and that nothing must hold up the invasion. Other air officers argued, however, that U. S. airmen in England had been able to install self-sealing tanks in planes in English garages or any place else, that it was a simple matter and that the job at least should be started.

This latter group, according to assurances given to the West Virginia Senator, has now won out.

NOTE--General "Hap" Arnold, head of the Air Forces, always favored self-sealing tanks and other protection for paratroop transports, but his decision was sidetracked. Arnold also is pushing Army purchases of the quick-release type of parachute harness, the Army having now ordered more than 200,000. General Arnold himself brought up the matter of the parachute harness after reading a Washington Merry-Go-Round column. "Why," he stormed, "wasn't I told about this? Why do I have to find out about my own Air Corps from Drew Pearson?"

—STATE DEPARTMENT HARANGUE—

Dignified, delightful British Ambassador Lord Halifax called on Undersecretary of State Stettinius some time ago on a secret matter. While they were closeted together, Assistant Secretary of State Adolf Berle, diminutive and precocious, joined them.

Soon, high-pitched scolding voices came from Stettinius' office. Callers in his anteroom could not help overhearing the harangue as it reverberated even through the heavy mahogany doors of the State Department.

Finally, Lord Halifax was ushered out. Later, Stettinius came out, followed by Berle, who looked a bit agitated.

"Was I too tough with him " asked Berle.

"No," said Stettinius, "you were just right."

"I felt," said Berle, with the air of a parent who has just delivered a good spanking, "that it simply had to be done."

What it was all about was not divulged, but Berie has been carrying on long discussions and arguments with the British regarding the future air routes of the world.

A Ninth Air Force Troop Carrier Command Station, England—Jack H. Zawada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zawada of Bark River, Michigan, has been promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant, it was announced recently. Lt. Zawada, a pilot in the IX Troop Carrier Command, is now in England, after flying for over 14 months in the North African Theater of Operations. Working in support of the British Eighth Army, his Squadron moved westward across the desert from Egypt to Libya and Tunisia, flying critical supplies to front-line bases and evacuating casualties to the rear. The desert campaign not only involved flying long hours over the endless North African coastline; it also meant operating from recently captured fields with little equipment other than what could be flown in. For the first three months of his overseas service, Lt. Zawada was a Staff Sergeant pilot, and it was not until the close of the Egyptian Italian campaign that he became a Flight Officer. The speed of Rommel's retreat necessitated frequent and rapid moves: pilots, radio operators, and aircraft mechanics would often strike tents and load planes in the morning and by noon they would be pitching a new camp hundreds of miles away.

After the enemy had been driven out of Tunisia, Lt. Zawada participated in the paratroop operations that spearheaded the invasion of Sicily. For his performance in these missions he was awarded the Air Medal, cited for "meritorious achievement while participating in a night aerial flight . . . in unarmed, unarmored, and unescorted Troop Carrier aircraft, under adverse flying conditions over enemy-held terrain while receiving hostile ground fire." Shortly afterward, Lt. Zawada received his commission as a Second Lieutenant.

Later, during the Salerno crisis, he flew on a similar mission over the bridgehead area, for which he received a Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster for his Air Medal.

Leader and planner of these Troop Carrier flights was Brigadier General Paul L. Williams, commanding general of the IX Troop Carrier Command. The IX Troop Carrier Command is part of the Ninth Air Force, U. S. component of the Allied Expeditionary Air Force.

Lt. Zawada enlisted at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, October 16, 1939, and received his basic training at Selfridge Field, Michigan. He then served as an enlisted man at Selfridge until May, 1941. Prior to becoming an Aviation Cadet, he attended the Curtis-Wright Aircraft Mechanics School at Chicago. The flying schools that he attended were all in Texas, and it was at Kelly Field that he was graduated as a pilot. After going through the transitional training program for Troop Carrier pilots, he was assigned to the Group which was then stationed at Lawson Field, Georgia. After participating in maneuvers in Texas in the Fall of 1942, his Group entered the North African campaign. Since then, Lt. Zawada has flown tens of thousands of miles in four campaigns, landing at airfields in a dozen countries, from Brazil to Egypt, from the Gold Coast to Italy.

To men who spent over a year in the African desert and war-torn Sicily, living conditions in England seem ideal. "It's the next best thing to returning to the States," says Lt. Zawada.

Lt Zawada was graduated from the Escanaba Senior High School in 1938.

Bureau Head Cites Ruling On Property

Recipients of old age assistance who desire to dispose of property should consult the local bureau of social aid to determine how such property disposal affects the recipient's status, it was pointed out today by Miss Margaret Lipsett, supervisor of the Alger county bureau.

In reply to numerous inquiries regarding transfer of property by persons making application for old age assistance the supervisor explains that when cash is received for property the person immediately becomes ineligible to receive assistance. Many recipients, if appraised in advance of provisions of the law, may not wish to sell property. In cases where it can be shown there is a sound reason for disposal of property, permission may be obtained from the supervisor of the state bureau of social security.

When a person applies for assistance and it is found he or she transferred property within five years, immediately preceding the date of application it must be determined that this was not done for the purpose of qualifying for assistance. Frequently applicants are found to have transferred property within this five-year period, but in most cases they had valid reason for doing so.

Under section 6 of Public Act 280, enacted in 1939, a penalty is provided for any person who obtains assistance frauduently or for any person who aids in obtaining such assistance. It is advisable in all cases, Miss Lipsett points out, to discuss all contemplated property transfers thoroughly before action is taken.

Lions Club Pays Honor to Mothers At Annual Dinner

The Lions club, observing the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of Mother's Day, honored the mothers of members, and in particular the war mothers of the day, at its annual Mother's Day dinner served last evening at the Sherman Hotel.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Ann Pennings, who has six sons in the service, and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, who has five sons serving in the armed forces.

The program of the evening, with Harold Meier, club president presiding, and Gust Asp, program chairman, announcer, opened with assembly singing of the first verse of "America, followed by the invocation, which was delivered by Earl B. Harris, Jr., a student at the Princeton Theological Seminary, and introduction of the guests of honor.

A trio composed of Pat Ammel, Margie Greis and Mary Olive Bink, with Helen Bink, accompanist, presented three numbers in keeping with the theme of the evening, "Mother," "Mother Machree," and the more familiar song, also entitled "Mother."

Attorney Harian J. Yelland, speaker of the evening, first presented an entertaining sketch, and then, introducing his subject, paid tribute to his own mother in a deeply moving recital of incidents of his boyhood and manhood, which echoed the sentiments in the hearts of his listeners.

Presented With Corsages

The program closed with another song, "Say a Prayer for the Boys Over There," by the trio, and with the presentation by Gust Asp, of corsages to the two war mothers, Mr. Asp, in his presentation, spoke of the sacrifices which mothers ordinarily make, and of the heightening of these sacrifices during times of war.

Tables for the dinner which was marked by a capacity attendance were attractively decorated with red and white peonies and white snapdragons. Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Mrs. Derlin Remington, chairman, and Mesdames Arthur Goulais, Lency Clairmont, A. D. LaBranche, Harold Meier and Roy Starrin.

Many VFW Posts Subscribe Quotas In Welfare Drive

Commander Jacob Bink of local Post No. 2998 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has been informed by campaign headquarters that in the organization's current nation-wide drive to raise a $1,500,000 welfare fund for returning war veterans a considerable number of posts throughout the country have reached their assigned quotas and some have exceeded them by sizeable amounts.

"Our local unit, Post No. 2998, is striving to raise $1,000, our quota of this welfare fund," says Commander Bink. "While contributions from our membership will add up to a good share of it, quite a few of our members are in the armed services and we naturally are not asking them to give to a fund created for their benefit. Therefore, we are inviting the public to help us reach our goal. Gifts from everyone are needed so that this time, when our boys come home, help will be available to them at the time when they most need it. I appeal to citizens of Escanaba and Delta county—to give now—not too little, not too late."

The entire amount of the welfare fund—$1,500,000—is earmarked for expansion of the organization's service and welfare program for returned war veterans and for enlargement of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' National Home for widows and orphans of members, which is located at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Watson Raps Federal Control Of Logging In Talk To Rotary

Federal regulation of the logging industry, as opposed to "common sense" methods of the men in the woods, was criticized yesterday in a talk to the Escanaba Rotary Club by Russell Watson, Manistique, logging operator and former professor of silviculture at University of Michigan.

Watson talked on the subject "Why Lumbermen do Not Practice Forestry", and said in part:

"For upwards of 50 years now, press and public, foresters professional and lay, good and bad, women's clubs, civic organizations, luncheon clubs, politicians—even presidents of the United States, to say nothing of governors, senators, congressmen and lesser breeds have lifted their voices as one: The lumberman must practice forestry. The din has increased, rather than decreased with the years.

"Many men in high civil service positions, whose primary job is selling the public on the idea that lumbermen must practice forestry, have said or else! Or else, in the words of a 1939 U. S. Forest Service report, public agencies must take over all forest land into public ownership to be owned and operated outright by the government, or else regulate all cutting, so that forestry may be practiced.

"This official position of practically all professional foresters in the federal service, at least the heads, namely to extend federal ownership or control over all forest lands, has its extreme socialistic or totalitarian basis on the idea that forestry must be practiced and that the lumbermen will not do it. Since the lumbermen will not, the government must take over.

"Endless studies at great expense have been made by public agencies to prove statistically that it is best financially for the lumbermen to practice the kind of forestry requested—at the moment it is selective logging which is desired.

"The public and foresters cry that the lumbermen have been given every possible aid — taxes on cut-over land have been reduced, they have received silvicultural advice ad lib, they have been threatened and cajoled—all to no purpose. The lumbermen will not practice forestry. The situation is so serious that nothing will do other than an army of young foresters must invade the woods, each armed with a degree in siviculture, to see that no trees other than those which should be cut under the practice of good forestry, shall be touched. Fines, confiscation of lands, imprisonment would be the obvious result of the practices of poor or no forestry. That apparently is the official position of the tremendous U. S. Forest Service and many of the great state-maintained forestry schools."

Watson then presented the logging operators' answers to some of the good forestry proposals:

Disposal of slash—"The cost is beyond belief. The foresters are practically in accord that slash disposal is unnecessary. Hardwood slash soon rots down, so does pine slash. The U. S. Forest Service does not demand slash disposal except in jack pine cuttings and really does not always do it there; and probably would not do it at all except for public eye wash, as one forest supervisor expressed it.

Young trees must be planted for each one which is cut down—"Reproduction in our territory almost always naturally follows cutting—usually too thickly. Our vast areas of barren lands are from fires, not from lack of young growth after cutting."

Lumbermen take what they want; the public be damned—"In the first place, just what difference does it make in tree growth who owns the land after cutting? Suppose the U. S. Forest Service sells the timber on a forty. It may be 50 years before another cut is obtained. Is there a whit of economic difference whether the U. S. or the state or the county or nobody owns the land? The trees grow only so fast after all."

Selective logging — "It is the basis of nine-tenths of the present-day quarrel of foresters with lumbermen. Yet I tell the truth—it is not a good practice, either from the point of view of business or silviculture, on about three-fourths of our forests." Under this heading Watson specified the difficulties of applying selective cutting, and pointed out that specific rules would have to be set up for each parcel of timber.

In conclusion, Watson said:

"Before the finer methods of forest management become practicable under such economic conditions as surround us, a commonsense management may be possible, which consists in a more careful utilization of the natural forest, protecting it from fires, fostering young growth. Let us strive for a commonsense objective expression of the realities.

"When we insist that lumbermen must practice forestry, we are speaking in a glittering generality that has a high public appeal; but when we get down to the actual practice, usually, we don't quite know just what to do about it."

Here's a very funny thing about War Bonds

It's a funny thing, but many people still have the wrong slant on War Bonds.

These people think that when they buy a Bond, they're giving, or donating their money to the war.

You might say they have a grin-and-bear-it attitude about all their War Bond purchases.

Well, that's a strange attitude. Because while buying Bonds is patriotic, and while it is necessary to help the Government pay for planes and tanks and guns, it is not a personal sacrifice.

In fact, buying a War Bond is just about the most advantageous thing you can possibly do with your money.

Why?

You couldn't make a safer investment. The Government itself backs every dollar you invest.

And the Government pays a good, sound rate of interest—you get $4 back for every $3 you put in.

That means that when the war is over, everybody who's been buying War Bonds will have a comfortable financial backlog—a backlog that will help him do such things as build a home, send his children to school, and travel.

And, finally, by investing the money that otherwise would be burning a hole in our pockets these days, we're helping to keep down the cost of living.

So it's a very funny thing that some people still think they're giving their money when they invest it in a War Bond.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE V-117: Alfred T., aged 29, is a young business executive in a Chicago department store.

"What's bothering you, Alfred?" I inquired one night while visiting at his home.

"You act as if you are worried. Why are you so apprehensive?"

"I didn't know I showed it, but I do feel upset," he replied.

"Tomorrow I'm going to the hospital for an operation. I suppose it's silly to dread it, but I do, especially the anesthetic. I get panicky to think of having a mask held over my face. I feel suffocated at the thought."

DIAGNOSIS: To relieve his mind, therefore, I told him I'd talk to the doctor who was the anesthetist at this hospital. The latter let Alfred hold the mask next day until he became so sleepy that the anesthetist had to take it over.

Alfred is an intelligent man, and his fears are in no way an evidence of any sissiness. Rather, they are an indictment of our medical profession itself.

Too long our medical schools and hospitals have confined their attention almost entirely to drugs, microbes and surgical techniques, without emphasizing the psychological aspects of medicine.

I have seen patients go into the operating room literally scared stiff, when a little casual conversation with them beforehand would have eliminated the worry by showing them the simple nature of the operation and how little it endangered their lives.

Lacking such knowledge in advance, they feared death itself, even from such a safe operation as a tonsillectomy.

Operating On The Mind

Too long we have been operating on gall bladders or tonsils when in reality we should be operating on the patient's mind. Relieve him of her erroneous ideas about hospitals or surgery, and part of the battle has been won before you touch a scalpel.

Before an operation, it is customary to give the patinet morphine and atropine or some other sleep-producing drugs. The purpose of such is partly to quiet the individual prior to his being wheeled into the operating room. It would be far better, however, to quiet his mind in advance by a clear cut explanation of just what was going to happen, than to rely so entirely on organic therapy.

A Survey of Doctors

One of the most frequent criticisms of doctors pertains to their bluntness and tendency to belittle or ridicule the patient.

The doctor of yesterday thought he could cure all human ailments with scalpel or drug. The modern doctor is beginning to realize that patients are not just a series of organs wrapped within a epidermis.

We no longer operate on an appendix. We operate on a total personality. Those surgeons who think they can limit their study and attention to the appendix alone, are soon going to find themselves in the discard.

Patients are growing more educated regarding medicine. And they have a lot of horse sense. Besides, many of them have studied far more psychology in college than the average doctor who is not required to take a single course in psychology for admission to any of our four big medical schools here in Chicago. And they don't teach psychology courses in the medical school itself.

Our modern physicians get a few courses on how to give a neurological examination, and how to diagnose as well as treat the insane. But what about the neurotic and those normal individuals with worries, dreads and other mental aches or pains? Although as high as 50 per cent of medical practice is made up of psychological cases, the medical schools still ignore this subject. They are woefully myopic!

Margaret Clouse Is the Bride of James P. Hughes

Miss Margaret A. Clouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Clouse, of Gladstone, Route One, and Cpl. James P. Hughes, of the United States Army Air Force, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Hughes, also of Gladstone, Route One, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place Saturday morning, May 13, at Holy Family church in Flat Rock.

Rev. Fr. Matthias Laviolette, who was celebrant of the nine o'clock high mass, solemnized the service.

Miss Belle Bodette, soloist of the mass, sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory. The traditional bridal processional and recessional were played by Mrs. John Bartel, Jr.

Attending the couple were Miss Fay Noel, a close friend of the bride, and Henry Hughes, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a lovely gown of pearl white brocaded satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and a full skirt, which formed a long train. Her three-tiered veil of bridal illusion was gathered to a halo of white velvet calla lilies. She carried a white prayer book, showered with gardenias and fever few. The maid of honor's gown was of pale pink lace over taffeta. She wore a shoulder veil held in place by a halo of flowers and she carried pink and white snapdragons and fever few.

Mrs. Clouse, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue ensemble with rose colored accessories and Mrs. Hughes also wore a navy ensemble. Corsages of snapdragons and roses completed each costume.

Home in Florida

A wedding dinner for thirty guests was served at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a reception, and a supper for thirty-five guests was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal couple, centered the appointments.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Orlando, Florida, where they will make their home, the bride, for traveling, wearing a gold colored suit with brown accessories. Mrs. Hughes is a graduate of Escanaba high school and Cpl. Hughes is a graduate of St. Joseph's high school.

allowed membership in both Willow Run and the junior officers' club. In addition, a handful of old correspondents like me are allowed in the senior officers' club.

So all this gives us a very fine choice in eating. Just for diversity we sort of rotate among the three, and probably four times a week we eat at British restaurants, just because we happen to be in a different part of town or are invited out.

The only one of these many messes that serves breakfast is Willow Run. But now that I'm a city man I can't get myself up in time to make Willow Run. So I'm caught in the English custom of eating breakfast in your room. And what a concoction the English hotel breakfast is!

It consists of porridge, toast, some coal-black mushrooms (which no self-respecting Englishman would have breakfast without and a small slice of ham—which the British for some reason call bacon.

Being an old Army scrounger, I've found a way out of this. The floor waitress, although daily appalled by the suggestion, does bring me each morning one big beautiful American shredded-wheat biscuit. From the Army I got enough extra sugar to make it palatable. Also from the Army I got a can of condensed milk to add to my small hotel portion.

But best of all I have eggs. This enviable acquisition came through the big heart of Correspondent Gordon Gammack of The Des Moines Register and Tribune. "Gamm" came back from Ireland the other day bearing five dozen duck eggs, and he gave me two dozen of them. A duck egg, my friends, is a big egg. One of them gives you all you can hold for breakfast.

So, all in all, we expatriates over here bleeding out the war in London do manage to suffer along and gain a little weight now and then.

* * *

Every one of the messes has a bar. At peak hours you can't get within yelling distance of the bar at Willow Run.

But don't worry, you folks at home, about our officers drinking themselves to death over here. Liquor is very, very short in London. Each mess has a definite ration each day. It isn't very much. Every person who goes to the bar is on his honor not to drink more than two drinks. In addition to that the bar has a unique rationing system of its own. It will sell whiskey and gin for about 15 minutes and then hang up the "all out" sign, leaving only beer and wine. The dense crowd at the bar gradually drifts away, and a new crowd forms. Then they start selling whiskey and gin again for about 15 minutes.

It seems to work out to everybody's satisfaction. There is only one drawback. The shock of drinking good liquor after a winter of poisonous bootleg cognac is almost too much for soldiers up from Italy.

It is against the law to pluck a columbine in the state of Colorado.

Be sure to put milk in the refrigerator as soon as it arrives.

Communication

In answer to a recent criticism by the Daily Press' Bugler of the state highway department's present policy in turning the maintenance of state trunk lines over to certain counties in Michigan, Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner has offered the following explanation:

"I was interested in reading a recent copy of your paper, which contained a column by The Bugler entitled "Going Backward." I believe you will be interested in certain facts regarding this matter.

"I would like to call attention to the fact that 32 counties in Michigan always have maintained state trunk-lines under contract. There is nothing new about the idea. In 1933 there were 43 counties holding such contracts but in the following 10 years eleven of these contracts were cancelled by the highway department administration. These contracts were cancelled, not because the county road commissions had not done a good job of maintaining state trunklines, but because the highway department officials at that time had political reasons for wishing to set up their own maintenance organization. Two of the counties, which had contracts cancelled, were Wayne and Kent. These counties had national reputations for their high class of maintenance work.

There is no such thing as 83 different degrees of maintenance. The highway department sets the standards of maintenance in the contract counties and requires the county organization to meet the specifications and standards set up by the department. Contracts can be cancelled by the state on 30 days notice.

The 17 counties which have been given contracts for trunkline maintenance in the last year are doing a splendid job of maintenance in every case and in a number of cases are doing better work than had been done under direct maintenance organizations. It also should be borne in mind that we maintain a close check on the work which is done through our district and maintenance engineers.

The budgets of the contract counties, as far as state trunkline maintenance is concerned, are controlled by the highway department. We determine the amount of work that is necessary to be done and the counties carry out this work, billing us for the labor expense involved. I would also point out that the state law specifically provides for such contracts "under direction, supervision and control of the State Highway Department." The department makes contracts for building its roads and none questions this procedure. It is as logical to have contracts for maintaining highways as it is to have contracts for constructing them.

"In no case has the State Highway Department asked a county to assume maintenance. On the contrary, every application for a maintenance contract has originated with the county road commission. Before making any contracts, we have always carefully investigated the road commission personnel and equipment to ascertain if the commission is properly staffed and equipped to handle maintenance of the state trunklines in that county. Not all counties which have made applications have been able to meet our requirements and we have rejected six applications for this reason. Others were rejected and later approved after the commission had made changes to bring their organization up to the standards necessary to meet our maintenance requirements, and had shown by their own work that they could satisfactorily perform trunkline maintenance.

"We agree with The Bugler that a uniform high maintenance standard should be carried out on the entire trunkline system of 9,400 miles. This can be and is being accomplished. It is logical that when the work of maintenance is directed and controlled from the State Highway Department and standards set up for this work that it can best be carried out by county road commissions, if properly equipped to do so, because it places further supervision in the locality where the work is to be done. The county maintenance organization is under the daily supervision of the local road commission and not controlled from hundreds of miles away. It is no more difficult to obtain a uniform high standard of maintenance from county road commissions than it is to maintain a uniform high quality of construction from contractors who build roads.

"A considerable saving has been effected by the contract system of maintenance. We estimate from figures to date that during 1944 we will save $250,000 on the 17 new contracts placed in effect in the last year. We have also saved considerably in equipment which cannot be purchased today under wartime restrictions. Many counties are desperately in need of equipment. When a county takes over maintenance work, we have in each case sold them from our discontinued state garage such equipment as a county needed to properly carry on the work of maintaining its own roads as well as the state trunklines. In no case have they needed all of our equipment so we have always had some to place in a reserve pool or sell to other counties for use in other parts of the state wherever the need might arise. Thus, we have been able to help the counties out of a serious difficulty.

"In every case where we have discontinued the state organization and made a maintenance contract with the county, the county has taken from the state crew such additional men as it needed to carry out its contract and to bring its own organization up to full strength. This shows that these contracts have not been entered into for the purpose of disposing of political organizations. The men who are not needed by the county road commission have been released and made available to help relieve the manpower shortage. In each case we have saved a superintendent's salary of about $3,000 a year, a clerk's salary of $2,100 a year, garage rentals and upkeep and the salaries of several other men.

"The state trunkline system will have uniformity of bridges, signs, roadside beautification and safety provisions. We control these things in the State Highway Department. The county merely acts as our agent in carrying out the maintenance work we decide is necessary.

"From time to time we have outlined our postwar plans with emphasis on the fact we proposed to build hundreds of miles of new roads, replace present inadequate and narrow bridges, provide bypasses around congested areas and install a complete new sign system on the state trunklines after the war. For some time we have had survey crews in the field gathering data needed to draw the plans needed for the great program which now has projects totalling $120,000,000. Many plans for these projects have been completed and the amount of completed blueprints will increase continuously. Thus, when building restrictions are ended and we have the necessary finances we will be able to go ahead and do the work which will be necessary to put our trunkline system in a highly satisfactory condition.

I trust this letter will clear up some of the doubts and misunderstanding which were expressed in the article to which I have referred."

Very truly yours,
CHARLES M. ZIEGLER,
State Highway Commissioner.

PAPER DRIVE WAS SUCCESS

More Than Three Tons Collected In 1-Day Campaign

The paper salvage drive conducted in Gladstone last Friday was very successful, it is learned from Supt. Wallace C. Cameron, who served as chairman of the drive in Delta county.

Pupils of the Gladstone schools from the sixth grades downward made the canvass and collection.

Paper collected filled the passageway between the Central school and the gym.

Monday, the paper was sold and two loads were trucked away. One weighed 2600 pounds while the other weighed 2800 pounds. It was estimated that about a half load remained at the school.

There is also some paper at the First Ward and Buckeye schools which should bring the total collection to between three and four tons.

Money derived from the sale of the paper will be used for the playground or for playground equipment.

ROTARY CLUB VISITS PLANTS

See Operation Of Marble Industries During War Time

How two of Gladstone's defense plants, the Marble Arms and Manufacturing company and the Marble-Card Electric company, operate was seen by members of the Gladstone Rotary club yesterday noon when they were taken on a tour of the two industries.

Before making the inspection trip, James T. Jones, an officer of both plants, explained that at the present time the Marble Arms is making only a few things for the war effort—that the peak had been reached several months before.

In addition to two parts for some mechanism the company is making two of their own products for servicemen. One is the Ideal model hunting knife which goes to Marines and is also standard equipment on the General Motors amphibious tanks; the other is the Game-Getter rifle which is placed in some patrol planes in the northwest.

Mr. Jones said the Marble-Card plant was a source of gratification for it had been founded on money derived from war contracts in World War I and now in the current conflict had turned out far more goods than did the plant whose earnings gave it its start.

Mr. Jones and C. E. Hawkins conducted Rotarians through the Marble Arms plant while E. H. Huesener and O. H. Anderson took the men through the Marble-Card shop.

The latter is and has been engaged in making motors and generators of various sizes and types for various war purposes.

At the luncheon meeting, Dr. O. S. Hult explained the plans under way for an organized recreation program for the youth of the city and cited the need and value of such a program. Dr. Hult has been named to represent the Rotary club on a city recreation board.

SGT. ROBERTS REPORTED SAFE

Telephones Mother On Mothers Day After Being "Missing"

A "wonderful Mother's Day present" was received Sunday morning by Mrs. Roy Roberts when her son, S/Sgt. Bill Roberts called her by telephone from New York. He had been reported missing by the War Department in the African area since April 2.

No word had been received since then by the family here. At 10:30 a. m. Sunday the telephone rang at the Roberts home on Deer street. It was "Billy" calling from New York. Five members of the family were home at the time, including his parents and wife, all of whom talked to him. He said he expected to be in Manistique within a week, that he was well and has received the Purple Heart award.

A radio operator-gunner aboard a U. S. heavy bomber based in the north African area, he was reported missing here on April 20. He is a graduate of Manistique high school, entered the service in December 1942, and received his wings as an aerial gunner at Harlingen, Texas. His wife and infant daughter live at the Roberts home here.

School Registration Was Light Saturday

Registration of school electors, required under the law since the reorganization of the school system to a third class city district, was "very light" in Manistique Saturday, school officials report.

At the city hall, where qualified persons could register from the first and second precincts, only 15 persons registered, it was said. However, registration will continue for the next three successive Saturdays at both the city hall and Lincoln school. Hours of registration are from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m.

School officials point out that everyone who wishes to vote in the school election, including parents or guardians of school students or persons paying school tax, must register. The new registration is required by law since the reorganization of the local schools as a third class city district. Other registration days will be May 20, May 27 and June 3.

Cellarite Cubs Swamped, 14-3; Homer Beats Tigers In Ninth, 6-2

DODGERS SCORE SEVEN IN SIXTH

Passeau And Hanyzewski Knocked Off Hill By Brooklyn Splurge

Chicago, May 15 (AP)—Scoring seven times in the sixth inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers submerged the cellarite Chicago Cubs, 14-3, knocking Ed Hanyzewski and Claude Passeau off the hill in their big splurge.

While Hal Gregg was handcuffing the Cubs with five safeties, his mates helped him to his fourth victory with a 17-hit attack.

Dixie Walker and Luis Olmo each collected two hits in the sixth and Olmo homered in the eighth, running his batting streak through nine games. Walker went three for six and upped his average to .414.

SHOUN AIRTIGHT

Cincinnati, May 15 (AP)—Clyde Shoun spun the no-hit bottle today as the Cincinnati Reds downed the Boston Braves, 1 to 0.

The losing pitcher was Jim Tobin, the only other major league pitcher with a no-hitter this year, and Jim was the only Brave to get on base. He drew a walk in the third inning and first base was as far as he got.

Even with giving the mathematical minimum of hits to the Braves, Clyde, a relief and spot pitcher last year, barely got his game, for a homer by Rookie Chuck Aleno in the fifth was all the Reds could produce to support him. Shoun got two of the Reds' five hits, one a double, to round out his day.

Shoun, a southpaw, is the first Red to pitch a no-hit game since Johnny Vander Meer had a pair of them on June 11 and 15, 1938, against this same Boston club and Brooklyn. Johnny is now "pitching" for the Navy.

Philadelphia threatened with four runs in the eighth but the ninth inning batters went out in order. Tony Lupien drove in three runs, two during the eighth-inning rally.

Emil Verban batted twice for the Cardinals in the first and hit safely each time, once for a triple.

Pittsburgh, May 15 (AP) — Eighteen Pittsburgh Pirates saw action today as the New York Giants clubbed out 15 hits for an 8-7 edge and Ace Adams' fourth victory.

Phil Weintraub paced the New York attack with a triple, two doubles and a single for a perfect day and Billy Jurges collected three for four.

Frankie Frisch started Max Butcher but Art Cuccurullo who came on in the second was charged with the defeat although helping the Pirates score five in the second frame.

Major Loop Races Given Once Over

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, May 15 (AP)—A few fleeting impressions of the major league races to date:

Most disappointing club—The Chicago Cubs.

Most true to form—The St. Louis Cordinals, Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees.

Most surprising—St. Louis Browns.

Most astonishing—The generally high caliber of the play in view of crazy-quilt lineups and absence of so many stars.

Potentially most dangerous dark horse—The New York Giants, with enough dynamite in their lineup to blast things wide open if they could get even fair pitching to back it up.

Most gratifying—The crowds, particularly on week-ends, showing interest in the game hasn't waned. The departure of so many regular fans for the wars accounts for any attendance drop. Were all those fellows around the crowds would be setting records.

Most vivid impression—That this year, more than ever, the pitchers are in charge, and the clubs that get the best chucking will be the clubs in the world series.

Most sensational individual performance—Jim Tobin climaxing three superb pitching performances with his no-hitter against the Dodgers.

Most fantastic—The Giants' 26 to 8 victory over the Dodgers, proving again that not only can anything happen in baseball—it usually does.

Most perturbed—Leo Durocher, who has been juggling his Dodger lineup like hot meat balls seeking the right combination.

Saddest case—That fine gentleman, Eddie Brannick, who bravely has been hiding a heartache through the decline of his beloved Giants in recent years, and finally saw sunlight in the club's string of early victories, only to have everything turn back again.

Most relieved individual—Jimmy Wilson, after he had crawled out from under the crushing weight of a ball club that couldn't win with loaded dice. It was eight, nine and out for Jimmy.

Most fortunate—Joe McCarthy, to have such a solid head—and no disrespect meant—as Art Fletcher to fill in for him during his absence.

Most promising rookie pitcher—The Reds' Tom De la Cruz.

Most promising rookie infielder—The Cards' Emil Verban.

Most costly lesson—That crime doesn't pay, learned by the Yanks' Tuck Stainback, who broke a leg trying to steal a base.

Most welcome—Charley Grimm, back to Chicago, and Jimmy Wilson, back to Cincinnati.

Biggest threat to Cardinals—The Reds.

Biggest threat to Yankees—The Senators.

Biggest puzzle—Whether to call them the Phillies or the Blue Jays.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

FLOUR, COFFEE AND A GLASS OF WATER

In the previous article a fisherman had told everyone at a resort that I was a wizard, because I had told him what spoon to fish with for three hours, which plug to fish with for another three hours and had selected the third plug for the rest of his evening fishing.

He had taken several good fish by following my advice and, as this story begins, he is sitting at the breakfast table with me while I explain the "magic" to him.

I asked the waitress to bring him a cup of black coffee, a teaspoon of flour and two glasses of water. These are the tools of my "magic." While waiting for my breakfast I told him to look at the coffee, the water and to sprinkle some pepper from the shaker into one of the glasses of water.

Then I had him add the flour in that same glass and stir the flour and pepper in the water. I drank most of the water in my glass and had him pour half the coffee in my water glass.

* * *

"In the dark brown coffee color, you have the color of the water in many of our Wisconsin lakes," I said. "In the glass which is about half coffee and half water, you have the color of our brown to tan lakes and in the glass of clear water you have the color of our clear lakes."

* * *

"The flour and pepper, whirling around in that other glass is the 'bloom' which clouds our clear lakes in the summer," I said. "It is plankton, compased of millions of tiny plants and animals but we call it 'bloom.'

"In this experiment I am showing you what a great difference there is in the color, the transparency as the scientist would put it, in our lake waters. I am showing them in their colors which will range from a dark brown lake, a brown lake, a tan lake to such lakes as have clear and very clear water," I said.

"If you would sink a little white plate in the waters of each lake you come to, you could read it as quickly as you read the color in the cups and glasses here. You would see the plate disappear from sight in 18 inches in lake water colored like that in the coffee cup," I said.

* * *

Then I told him that his little eight-inch white china or white enameled plate, lowered by a cord in a very clear water, would not disappear from sight until it had gone 25 or 30 feet beneath the surface on a bright sunny day, around noon.

* * *

"In the dark brown lake water your transparency reading would be 18 inches, in the very clear water lake you would enter on your note book, 'Transparency 27 feet.'

"You may not be after whales," I said, "but unless you figure the transparency of every lake, it will make a whale of a difference in your fishing." I'll have to show him how to fish those various lakes in the next article.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Eskymos missed a chance to qualify at least one more athlete for the U. P. Class B track championship meet at Houghton last Saturday in the district meet at Iron Mountain. It happened in the pole vault in which the Eskymos placed first and third but qualified only one man for the Houghton competition. Kuchenberg, who placed third, failed to qualify for the Houghton finals because there were only five entrants in the event—four of them Eskymos—and only two could qualify.

* * *

Kingsford failed to enter a man in the pole vault and Iron Mountain had only one entry. This made a field of only five entries and eight are required to qualify three men for the finals at Houghton. However, the Eskymos would have let Ludwig of Iron Mountain win the blue ribbon, with Crebo and Kuchenberg tying for second place. This would have qualified both Crebo and Kuchenberg for the Houghton meet. Kuchenberg's 10 foot, 6 inch leap at Iron Mountain probably would bring a point or two at Houghton and the Escanaba lad has possibilities of 11 feet. Coach Schram reported that he missed the opportunity because the pole valut event progressed too rapidly.

* * *

The Houghton meet stacks up as primarily a dual fight between Escanaba and Ironwood with the result of a tossup. It may be only a few points that will determine the winner. Soo will be a factor in the meet but is not expected to seriously press either Escanaba or Ironwood for the team title. Calumet's power is still veiled but here again, there is nothing to indicate that Calumet can outscore either Escanaba or Ironwood. Manistique's speedster, Curley, seems like the class of the field in the 100 and 220 but the Emeralds lack strength in other events.

* * *

The decision to hold the U. P. Relays on May 30 instead of May 27, as originally considered, has proved to be a proper choice in the light of present facts. The Eskymos were saved with the choice of eliminating either Ironwood or Iron Mountain from the Relays because of conflicts in dates. They didn't want to eliminate either but finally decided on May 30 because Ironwood holds two legs on the team trophy at the Relays. The Red Devils would be unable to compete May 27. As it turned out, Ironwood has an unusually strong track team this year and Iron Mountain's team is only mediocre.

Here is an unusual story reported by the Bluejacket Reporter: Marine Capt. Marshall Pilcher recently went after a Jap in a camouflaged pillbox on Bougainville. The Jap made a vicious cut with his saber, whereupon the captain countered by running the Jap through the neck with a knife. When Capt. Pilcher stepped over the foxhole he felt a sharp pain in his right leg. Looking down he saw his leg was caught on a horse's mouth. It seems the Jap was astride a horse in the foxhole. And now the captain is in a New Zealand hospital waiting for his Purple Heart medal for a very unusual wound received in combat.

PLAN BASEBALL SESSION WED'Y

Junior Players Asked To Report; League Will Be Organized

The first regular practice of junior baseball players will be held at the city diamond Wednesday night beginning at 7 o'clock sharp, Alvin Ness, program director, announced yesterday. All boys interested in playing baseball are invited to report for practice, regardless of whether or not they have played or expect to play on a team. All boys will be given the chance to play on some team this year, Ness said yesterday.

Tenative plans call for practice and league play twice a week, probably on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Games in which an all star team will be picked each week will be scheduled for Sundays as competition can be secured. According to City Recreation Director Butts who makes out the schedule for the major softball league, the program will be coordinated so that all hardball players will have the chance to play in both sports without schedule conflict.

Except for one year when it was totally sponsored by the local post, American Legion, to date balls, bats and other miscellaneous equipment have been furnished by the city recreation department with some additional equipment being furnished by Ness who receives no compensation for his services except the satisfaction he gets in seeing baseball as a sport come back into its own. As a partial result of his promotion, interest in baseball has been aroused to such an extent that two organizations so far this year have volunteered additional sponsorship. With more and more backing and interest, Ness hopes in time to see baseball reach a point where it will hold a large participant and spectator interest, equalling or even surpassing that held by softball at the present time.

Bark River Beats Powers Nine, 4 to 3

The Lions sponsored Bark River Baseball Team, hung up a thrilling ten inning game over a strong Powers aggregation, 4-3. Powers blasted Lloyd Olson, Bark River's starting pitcher, in the first inning by putting across two runs, but the Powers boys were baffled from then on by relief pitcher Benny Johnson. Johnson also won his own ball game in the tenth, when he drove Bergman home with a smashing single to left. Powers used three pitchers, Perket, Lawrence and Nowack, however Nowack was charged with the loss. The trio of Powers moundsmen fanned 10 Bark River batters, while Johnson whiffed 14. The only extra base hit of the game was Dan Bergmann's ringing double to left field in the second inning.

Score by innings:

ROOKIE REJECTED

Chicago, May 15 (AP) — Bill Schuster, Chicago Cubs' rookie infielder from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, was rejected for military service today.

Officers did not give the reason for his rejection.

CIRCUIT CLOUT ENDS DEADLOCK

Catcher For A's Finds Groove With 2 Out And Bases Full

Philadelphia, May 15 (AP)—Catcher Frankie Hayes slapped a home run into the left field stands with the bases full and two out in the last of the ninth today to break a two-all deadlock and earn the Philadelphia A's a 6-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers had rallied in their half of the ninth to tie the score.

Bob Swift's second inning single to right drew first blood for Detroit, driving home Charlie Hostetler, who had connected with a two-bagger into left field.

The A's came right back in the third, however, to tie the score at 1-all. Russ Christopher tripled to the scoreboard and slid home safely under Joe Hoover's throw to the plate after Bill Murgo's infield hit.

After that the game tightened up until the eighth, when Hayes walked, advanced on Dick Siebert's sacrifice and romped home with Philadelphia's second run on Irvin Hall's single to right.

Then, in the ninth, came the Tiger rally. Swift walked. Johnny Gorsica went in to run for him and scored when Paul Richards, batting for Stub Overmire, rapped out a two-bagger.

Bob Gillespie, Detroit rookie who replaced Overmire, and Ruffus Gentry were the victims of the A's ninth-inning onslaught—which was glorious drama to the Philadelphia fans, but high tragedy to Detroiters who had hoped to see the Tigers extend their new-found winning ways.

Orengo Arrives

Outfielder Bill Burgo found Gillespie for a single and Ford Garrison walked. Gillespie pitched two more balls to Robert Estalella, than gave way to Gentry.

Gentry finished the job of walking Estalella, pitched a strike and the home-run ball to Hayes and the ball game was over.

Before the contest, Manager O'Neill announced the arrival of Joe Orengo, reserve infielder drafted from St. Paul last year. Orengo, who has played with St. Louis, Brooklyn and the New York Giants, remained on his job in a meat plant until today. He will serve the Tigers in utility roles until called for the armed services. He is 28, married and the father of a three-year old daughter.

Hal Newhouser will face Jess Flores in the second game of the Philadelphia series tomorrow. Eddie Mayo, who cennected with two safeties today, will seek to extend his hitting streak to six games. Pinky Higgins was stopped today after four straight.

HOMECOMING SPOILED

New York, May 15 (AP)—Three big innings did the trick for the league-leading New York Yankees today as rookie Walt Dubiel sprinkled five Chicago singles for his second major league victory, 10-2, in a series opener played before 3,797 Yankee Stadium customers.

Don Savage's two-run homer and Ed Levy's double were the only extra bases for the world champs who needed but eight hits to spoil the homecoming of Ed Lopat, Chicago's recruit from the Bronx, and his successor, Johnny Humphries.

Lopat turned back the Yanks without a hit for three frames but they climbed on him for three in the fourth. George Stirnweiss walked, took third on Bud Metheny's single and scored on Ed Levy's fly to Tucker. Then Savage hit his second homer of the year into the left field stands.

Twilight Leaguers Start Play Today At Escanaba Links

Hall's Flyweights will tangle with Augie's Corn-Borers in the opening match of the Twilight League series at the Escanaba golf club this afternoon. Players may call the clubhouse to check on the schedules if they are not certain of their pairings for the curtain-raiser. A supper at 6:30 will follow the play.

This season's weather has been ideal for the development of grass at the Escanaba club, and Cotton Leonard, pro at the local links, reports the course in the best condition it has been for years.

Grid Rules Chief Rejects Pressure For Changes Now

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, May 12 (AP)—If the College football rules are changed this year, they'll have to change the chairman of the rules committee first.

That's the stand of Lieut. Col. William J. Bingham, the chairman in question as well as editor of the official NCAA Football Guide. Col. Bingham outlines his ideas on code tinkering at the present time, and there is no "maybe" or "perhaps" about it. He's ag'in it, and that's that.

We've frequently expressed similar views, and for similar reasons, to wit: the game—any game—today is being played today with a great number of the normal participants absent, and to change the rules under the circumstances would be something like taxation without representation, to give a general idea.

About the Kickoff

"The game is being played under abnormal conditions," Col. Bingham says. "The time of practice is being cut down; a good many colleges are operating with smaller staffs; transportation has cut out the opportunity to do effective scouting; and coaches have come to the conclusion they have to spot the other team something. They are kicking the ball out of bounds on the kickoff, and this, of course, has upset the public.

"It is not a part of football and will not be a part after the war. But I am not sold that the answer is a change in the rules, penalizing the kicking team, because the ball may be kicked out accidentally, and if it is then put in play in the middle of the field, it is pretty tough.

"I can assure you I am not a stand-patter and that when we have a meeting of the committee we will certainly go at this with our coats off. I am not committed to any restrictions, and I am willing to present for adoption anything that any of the other rules makers have found to improve the game, whether they have been thought out by the pros or the high schools.

"One thing that I feel they have lost sight of is that men who were coaching the game are now scattered all over the world, and they are playing the game under the rules which up to 1942 were considered okay."

The Colonel adds that the committee voted almost unanimously not to hold a meeting this year, but that when it next meets he intends to keep it in session until all things that have been brewing the last two years have been discussed.

Far from getting panicky over the growing popularity of the pro game, Col. Bingham says that if the college game can't stand on its own feet, well, it's just too bad, that's all. The public, he believes, will have more confidence in the rulings of a body that takes its time and refuses to be stampeded into hasty action.

All of which is sound reasoning.

Highland Golfers Will Open Season Officially Sunday

The Highland golf club will hold its official opening for the 1944 season Sunday, May 21, officers of the club announced yesterday.

Dinner will be served at the clubhouse at noon, rain or shine. Members who will be present for dinner are asked to call Mrs. Ed Schwartz, phone 1029, before Thursday night and make reservation.

All members and prospective members are invited.

PUNCH LACKING IN STOCK GAINS

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, May 15 (AP)—Selective strength, mainly for specialties, helped the stock market keep its head above water today although many leaders lacked swimming power.

Dealings were sluggish from the start and turnover of 337,030 shares was the smallest for a full session since last August 30.

At peaks for 1944 were Gulf Oil, spurred by talk of petroleum discovered in its southern fields; Masonite and Market St. Railway preferred. A pleasing earning compilation propped Pullman. In front were Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Western Union "A", National Supply, Standard Oil (N. J.), Kennecott and Du Pont. Among losers were General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, oGodyear, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft and Bethlehem.

RAILS NOSE UPWARD

New York, May 15 (AP)—The rail section of the bond market moved irregularly higher today while other corporate loans marked time.

Light selling was evident here and there in the carrier list, but most of the activity was on the upside and a few ran to more than a point.

The Associated Press 20-rail bond average rose .3 of a point while all other divisions were unchanged. Volume declined to a face value of $5,132,900 against $8,980,400 Friday.

Better advances included 1 3-4 by Chicago & Eastern Illinois Incomes and a point by Maine Central 4s. Ahead fractions were Baltimore & Ohio 4s of '48 and stamped convertibles, North Western 4½s of '99, Central Pacific 5s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Cleveland Union Terminal and most New York Central issues.

Down at the finish were Northern Pacific 4½s, Pere Marquette 5s and Seaboard Air Line Consolidated 6s.

American & Foreign Power 5s added ½ and American Telephone 3s closed 1-8 higher.

Foreign bonds followed mixed trends, Peruvian first and second 6s each losing 3-8 while Australia and Antioquia issues gained. U. S. governments were virtually idle.

No. 1, 2.45; Michigan Green Mountains, U. S. No. 1, 2.50; Wisconsin Chippewas, commercials, 2.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 15 (AP)—All grains weakened today, dropping to new low territory on the current downward movement which got underway about ten days ago. The selling was inspired by favorable crop growing weather and liberal offerings of corn by farmers, leading to the belief that the tight feed grain situation may ease shortly.

May wheat, oats and barley held at ceilings. Active wheat futures closed 3-4 to 1 3-8 lower, July $1.65. Active oats were off 5-8 to 1 1-8, July 77 7-8. Active barley was 1 3-4 to 2 5-8 lower, July $1.21 5-8. Rye dropped 3-4 to 1 7-8, May $1.22 1-8 to $1.22¼.

Failure of the market to show any sustained rallying power, after the sharp declines in the latter part of last week, was a disappointment to those bullishly inclined. Rye quotations are now down about 10 cents from the highs prevailing May 5 while wheat is off about 5 cents.

Sponsor Baseball Leagues

Newberry—The Tahquamenon Sportsmen's club at their last meeting discussed the idea of backing the baseball leagues. There would be 2 leagues, a junior baseball for boys 11-14 years of age and a senior league for boys 15-17 years of age, and approximately four teams to each league. League nights will be on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the two leagues alternating nights. Umpires for each league will be the manager and assistant managers of each team umpiring for each other.

Breaks Into Store

The grocery store of A. L. Sommers, located on the River Road ¼ mile north of Newberry was broken into by a hatchet thrown through the front window by a youth from McMillan, who was finally taken into the State Hospital by state police. About $25 in small change had been stolen.

Named Representatives

Dr. William Purmot of the Newberry State Hospital Staff and Judge Quinlan of Newberry were elected to represent Luce county for the U. P. Children's center at the last meeting of the Northern Michigan Children's Clinic at Marquette.

Inductees' Meeting

A committee of the Luce county civilian service sponsored a meeting on Wednesday for men who are to be inducted into the armed forces. Anyone else interested in these meetings is always welcome. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Community Building. Lt. Col. Earl Miller of the 6th Service Command District was present to answer any questions relative to the men about to leave for armed services.

Highway Construction

Luce county will have M128 through McMillan and west for 8 miles; M-135 north 8 miles from US-2 Junction to be graveled according to reports from the State Highway.

Absent Voters' Ballots

A number of applications have been received by County Clerk Turnball, of Luce County, for absent voters ballots for Luce county men and women in the armed forces for the fall election. They are being filed in alphabetical order before being sent to the city or township clerks so there will be no duplications.

Sewage Disposal Plant

The plans for a sewage disposal plant project were accepted by the Newberry village council at a special meeting and submitted to the State Health department and Michigan Stream Control Commission for approval. The Francis Engineering Co. of Bay City plans had been accepted estimated cost is $72,000 and both Newberry village and this state will share the amount. No construction work will be done until the end of the war. The site of the plant will be on the banks of the Tahquamenon river, a mile north of Newberry and just east of the present highway.

BURMA---DOUBLY OFFENSIVE—One of the paradoxes of the fighting going on in Burma is that both sides are on the offensive in almost adjacent areas and the goal of each is the same—maintaining supply bases and seizing or destroying the enemy's Key towns involved are Imphal, in India, chief British supply base, and Myitkyina, main Jap base in the area. Oil Experts See No Increase In Gasoline

BY S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

Tulsa, Okla.,—There is not going to be more gasoline for civilian motorists, wherever they live, until war demands are decreased by at least the approach of victory.

This is not to say, flatly, that gasoline rations will not be increased anywhere at any stage. Politics and pressure might conceivably force some letdown in restrictions. If that occurs it will be at the expense of the war effort, and will prolong the fighting and cost the lives of American men who should not have to die.

It is said, occasionally, that no military or naval operation ever has been handicapped by lack of gasoline. This is not true. Flying operations have been restricted, at times, because there was not sufficient fuel for the planes. This may have been due in the past to inability to transport gasoline that was available, rather than to overall scarcity of the vital fluid, but as of today any increased allotment to civilians would leave the armed forces facing a shortage.

Half-Truths

I have talked with many experts about the situation, in an effort to clear up the general misunderstanding that has been bred by lack of frankness on the part of government sources. It is not possible even now to tell the whole story, but enough figures do lie in the public domain to support certain generalizations.

It was true also, as we were told next that gasoline rationing was the best—and probably the only effective—way of controlling the use of tires and thereby conserving transportation machinery at a time when there was not enough rubber to replace non-essential tires.

But these were only half-truths It was true also that even this nation's gigantic capacity for producing and refining petroleum is not sufficient to supply war needs and, simultaneously, permit us to drive to the golf course, to bridge parties, to picnic spots and bathing beaches.

We thought that there was plenty of gasoline because, when we went to war, our wells were capped to prevent over-production, and our refinery capacity appeared more than ample.

Full Capacity

When the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor our petroleum industry was easing along at about 75 per cent of capacity. Existing wells could have flowed 1,750,000,000 barrels, but in 1941, with use stimulated by pre-belligerency activities, we turned out only 1,476,000,000 barrels. Gradually output was stepped up. Last year it amounted to 1,568,000,000 barrels. The week ended April 8, 1944, production attained approximately full capacity, at the rate of 1,642,000,000 barrels a year.

This full production rate is more than 100,000,000 barrels a year below the pre-Pearl Harbor potential. Why? Because the wells have declined in production capacity in the intervening years.

The falling off would have been even greater if several important discoveries of new sources had not been made during that time.

In 1943 for example, while we were taking 1,568,000,000 barrels out of the ground, geo-physicists located 1,538,000,000 barrels not previously known. They did not quite hold their own.

Current production is far above pre-war use. But from it there has to come 650,000,000 barrels a year for military and Lend-Lease use, which cuts the amount available on the home front to just under 1,000,000,000 barrels. That is about 65 per cent of actual pre-war usage.

From this "civilian" allowance, essential users must be served first. Trucks hauling raw material and manufactured goods, whether for war factories or to supply civilian needs, probably are using more gasoline now than before the war. Buses must operate, and diesel locomotives; plants fueled with oil must be serviced; farmers must operate tractors, harvesters, farm trucks.

Scarcely Enough

These and similar users cannot be held to the same ratio as housewives, vacationers and tourists. By the time they have been served, there isn't any 65 per cent of pre-war demand left for non-essential drivers. There scarcely is the minute quantity now provided on A-cards.

Nor is there any reason to hope that the supply will become substantially greater. Until the enemy is whipped, so that the armed forces no longer need at least the present 650,000,000 barrels a year there won't be any more left over for any civilian use, essential or otherwise, than we have now.

Veterans Council Meeting Will Be Held Here May 24

The Office of Veterans Affairs recently created by the Michigan legislature, will conduct a series of pre-organization meetings in the state to assist counties in organizing local councils of veterans affairs, it was announced yesterday by representatives of the state agency.

Representatives of the councils being formed in Marquette, Menominee and Delta counties will meet at Escanaba on Wednesday, May 24, at the Escanaba high school at 1:30 o'clock. State officials who will attend the meeting are Elmer J. Hanna, executive assistant to Governor Kelly; Lt. Col. Philip C. Pack, acting director of the office of veterans affairs; Maj. Garnet J. Burlingame, field representative; Wesley E. Thomas, chairman of the state clearing house committee; and Carl M. Horn, of the state board of control for vocational education.

The local councils of veterans affairs will be composed of representatives of veterans organizations and will assist returning war veterans in readjusting themselves to civilian life and to provide such services to war veterans as are not offered by federal agencies.
